MORE TROUBLE FOR AXIS

Something new's been added to the B-17-6 bomber. It's a "chin turret" beneath the bombardier's window in the nose of the Flying Fortress. Power-operated, the turret carries two .50-caliber machine guns with effective range of 1,000 yards. It was added to protect the bomber from enemy fighters who have been taking advantage of this one vulnerable spot by boring in from head-on.

U. S. Bombers Strike Norway

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Bombers operating from a United States aircraft carrier were reported today by Reuters as having participated in a naval attack upon German installations in the Bodo district of Northern Norway.

The Reuter dispatch, written by a staff correspondent with the British home fleet, said the raid was the first by an American carrier in German-occupied Western Europe.

It was "a complete surprise to the Germans" and resulted in the bombing of eight or ten ships, including a 10,000-ton oil tanker. The Reuter correspondent said the planes were over the merchant shipping target between eight and nine o'clock Monday.

White Russia Fighting Scene

Local Battles In Gomel, Vitebsk And Mogilev Sectors Reported

OTHER RED FRONTS RELATIVELY QUIET

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Oct. 7.—Fierce local battles continued today in the Vitebsk, Gomel and Mogilev sectors of White Russia, but other Soviet fronts were relatively quiet.

Autumn rains and consolidation of hard-won Soviet positions again precluded Red Army advances on other fronts for the third successive day, the midnight communique indicated.

In Leningrad Area

(A German radio report heard in New York by CBS said Russian forces have gone into action in the Leningrad area on the north. The Nazi broadcast, as quoted by the British radio, also reported increased Soviet pressure east of Vitebsk and midway between Gomel and Kiev.)

The Soviet high command announced more than 500 Germans were slain as the Russians repulsed four strong Nazi counter-attacks in one sector of the Vitebsk front, where several more inhabited localities were liberated. In another sec-

ABDUCTOR OF NURSE FOUND

State Police Apprehend Fugitive From Farview Asylum At Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Eugene Caster, 22, who abducted Nurse Clara Murray when he fled the Farview State hospital for the criminal insane, was being held in the Harrisburg jail today after he had been apprehended by state police.

Maj. Jacob Mauk, deputy commissioner, said Caster had been picked up last night at the home of his grandmother in Harrisburg who called authorities when the youth appeared at her home.

"State police picked up Caster last night at his grandmother's home," Mauk said. "She had agreed to call us if he came in and we acted promptly. Caster is in the city jail and will be held there until he is turned over to Wayne County authorities who were notified of his arrest. He gave us no trouble."

Caster, who fled the institution near Honesdale a week ago, forced Miss Murray to accompany him at the point of a gun which later turned out to be made of soap. The 26-year-old technician was forced to drive Caster to Camden, N. J., where he released her after taking $25. She was unharmed. The youth, serving a sentence for forgery and burglary, was a trusty at the institution. Officials said he was not dangerous.

Surprised Norwegians Cheer Bombers Attacks On Ships Of Germany

By JOHN E. LEE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE BRITISH HOME FLEET, Oct. 6.—(Delayed)—Surprised Norwegians cheered and waved when dive-bombers and torpedo planes escorted by fighters from a United States Navy carrier struck their lighting blow at enemy merchant shipping off Northern Norway.

The attack was carried out by carriers of an air group early Monday and spread destruction and confusion among the targets.

So great was the element of surprise that the Germans were unable to get a single defensive fighter plane in the air while the attack was in progress. The only opposition was from anti-aircraft guns which brought down three bombers and wounded the pilot of one American fighter. The bombers crashed or made forced landings, but the fighter managed to return to its carrier.

Later, two German planes which tried to follow the naval force accompanying a carrier were shot down by fighters before they could complete their mission.

The attack represents an import-

Allies Advancing Toward Madang

Australian Ground Forces Driving Toward New Japanese Base

RETREATING JAPS BEING PURSUED

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Oct. 7.—Allied ground forces in northern New Guinea increased their pressure on the Japanese supply port of Madang today in the wake of a devastating aerial attack on enemy communications and bases south of Bogadjim, a Madang outpost.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced that Australian jungle troops have advanced in the Ramu Valley seven miles beyond the captured village of Kaigulin and are now at Dumpu, within 30 miles of Bogadjim. Bogadjim lies only 20 miles south of Madang.

Pursue Retreating Japs

While the Aussies pursued the retreating Japs to Daumpu, Allied heavy bombers ripped main lines of Nipponese communications south of Bogadjim with 39 tons of explosives. Numerous resultant fires and explosions wrought extensive damage to Jap supply bases and roads.

At the same time, low-flying attack bombers bombed and strafed enemy-held coastal villages from Sio to Saidor in a sweep between fortification point and the Gogal

Mine Explodes In Naples Street

Blast Occurs Only Short Time After Gen. Clark's Triumphal Entry

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NAPLES, Oct. 7.—Explosion of a German time-fused land mine in a Naples street 90 minutes after Lieut. Gen. Mark Wayne Clark passed through during his formal triumphant entry into the city was disclosed today.

The Via Carraciolo, on the Naples waterfront, echoed to a shattering blast as the mine—one of many strewn throughout the neapolitan area by the retreating Nazis—let go.

Had the Germans timed the explosion for an hour and a half earlier they would have eliminated one of their No. 1 foes in Italy.

Before the triumphal street procession, Gen. Clark was met at the airport by a guard of honor. Interviewed as he stepped out of the first plane to land, Gen. Clark said he had stayed away from the city—except for flying visits—because he "wanted to capture Naples rather than have Naples capture him."

A review of the guard honor at the airfield preceded a parade through the main streets of the city. Gen. Clark's cavalcade passed by the tradition-steeped royal palace, blasted by 20 bombs, and the wrecks of many small ships along the Via Carraciolo.

But besides troops standing at attention at regular intervals along the parade route, there was no large audience, since the general's arrival was unannounced.

OBSERVE BIBLE WEEK

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Pennsylvanians have been urged by Gov. Edward Martin to observe Bible week beginning Oct. 11.

"It is particularly appropriate in these days of peril and sacrifice that we turn our hearts and minds to the Bible as the source of divine inspiration and guidance," said the chief executive.

The governor added that the movement, directed by the National Laymen's Committee, "is a work of the greatest importance to the welfare of our people of all creeds and faiths."

Rail Center Near Venice Bombed

American Flying Fortresses Make 1200 Mile Trip To Hit New Target

RAIL CENTER IS VITAL TO GERMANS

By GRAHAM HOVEY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Oct. 7.—American Flying Fortresses, flying some 1,200 miles to the target and back, today were reported to have bombed the Mestre rail center near Venice for the first time.

The raid near the colorful city of Canals marked another spectacular chapter in their tremndous record which includes raids on the Munich area, the Lower Brenner gateway, and other vital targets.

Heavy Attack

The Fortresses covered the Mestre rail yards with a heavy concentration of explosives, and also hit the shops and engine sheds, as well as nearby chemical works.

Lying ten miles west of Venice with which it is connected by a causeway across Lake Venetia, Mestre is a relay point for military supplies from Yugoslavia, Hungary and Austria.

For 25 minutes, while the huge four-motored American bombers were over the target area, they battled a force of some 30 enemy fighter planes. A number of the Nazi craft were shot down.

American Marauders again bombed road inter-sections and overpasses at the Mignano Horseshoe and Isernia, the so-called "choke point" north of the Naples battle area. They also hit the Formia road junction, while RAF Kittybombers roamed from Isernia as

German Wireless Admits Forces In Italy Retreating

BERLIN, (By Official German Wireless) Oct. 7.—(INS)—The German high command admitted today that its forces facing the Allies in the Apennine Mountain region of Italy are retreating in the face of "strong" attacks.

The acknowledgment, contained in an official statement, said rear guard units in that embattled area were "slowly withdrawing" to the northwest but claimed they were beating back all Allied assaults.

The communique claimed action on the Russian front still was limited in scope, except in the northern sector where the Soviets were said to have "attacked strongly with infantry and tanks supported by air formations."

"Last night," the communique added, "the Luftwaffe dropped heavy calibre bombs on targets in the London area. All planes returned to their bases."

Inside Story Of Lend-Lease Will Be Given Congress

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(INS)—The inside story of lend-lease operations, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's leadership, and British underground diplomacy was slated to be told in a rare executive session of the senate today by five members just back from a world air tour.

The upper house voted unanimously to lock its doors against all visitors, newsmen and spectators to hear in intimate detail what the committee of five found on its tour of battle areas.

It was said the report may tell of constant British pressure to win credit for British arms by control of the news, radio, alleged changing of labels on lend-lease goods to indicate they were British made, and maintenance of ambassadors where other nations have only ministers.

Administration Tax Program Is Strongly Opposed

Congress Appears Against Proposals Submitted By Morgenthau

OTHER PLANS ARE TO BE CONSIDERED

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The administration's $10,500,000,000 tax program, unveiled only three days ago, appeared as dead as the proverbial doornail today, with hope for its adoption virtually at the vanishing point.

As the administration's most influential "contact man" with Congress, Economic Stabilizer Fred M. Vinson, prepared to resume the stand before the House ways and means committee, it was evident that his three hours of testimony yesterday had failed to save the program.

To Sidetrack Program

A poll of key committeemen disclosed that an overwhelming majority will vote to sidetrack the program, and most of them contend that their opposition was strengthened rather than diminished by Vinson's testimony.

Although the members had widely divergent views on what course the committee will finally pursue, they appeared to think that three avenues of action are open to them In the order of their support these were:

1. Adoption of a sales tax despite President Roosevelt's known opposition, or,

2. Formulation of a general program to raise approximately $4,500,-

Borowy-Brazle Twirl In Third Series Contest

Rivals Endeavor To Gain Edge Before Entraining For Sportsman's Park

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The sometimes boisterous St. Louis Cardinals, a free-wheeling bunch of baseball players who never know when they are licked, went out against the New York Yankees today in the third game of the world series bent upon virtually slamming the door against loss of the title they won from these Yanks last year.

Seeking two in a row for a two games to one edge, the Cards faced the chance of gaining the upper hand here on this foreign field to set the Yanks up for a killing on the Cards' own premises beginning Sunday.

Picks Southpaw

In pursuit of this program, Manager Billy Southworth picked an awkward throwing, left-handed screwball specialist as his key game pitcher today. This would be Alpha Brazle, sometimes simply called Alphalfa or the Greek Alphabet, who has been in the majors only since midsummer and in a world series strictly as a spectator up to now.

Thus it can be said that at least he is new to any bitter experiences that might befall him in the spotlight.

Hank Borowy, on the other hand, was the Yankee starter and a man whose ears never have been the same after the way the Cards pinned them back for him in this classic last season. They pounced upon his right-handed offerings for six hits and six runs in one inning to knock him out while bouncing off their opening defeat to four wins in a row.

In Brazle the Yanks met a gent who wasn't whipped in the National league for weeks after he came up in mid-July from Sacramento. He finished with eight wins against two defeats.

KANE, Pa., Oct. 7.—(INS)—Harvey Haddix, 29, of Bradford, today was under sentence of 18 months in the county jail after pleading guilty to involuntary manslaughter charge in connection with the hit-and-run death of Mrs. Estelle Weaver, 70-year-old Kane woman.

Haddix was sentenced just three days after his arrest, in one of the speediest cases to be completed in Kane courts in many years. Judge Charles G. Hubbard passed judgment before the funeral rites were held for the elderly victim.

Wake Island Attack May Signify Opening Of Pacific Offensive

By RICHARD HALLER
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 7.—A long awaited Central Pacific offensive by the United States Navy was believed underway today, following official disclosure that a powerful task force had shelled and bombed Japanese forces on the American Island of Wake.

Announcement of the assault, carried out by surface units and carrier-borne bombers of the Pacific fleet, was made by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of that fleet. The official communique said:

Attack Wake Island

"A strong Pacific fleet task force command by Rear Admiral Alfred E. Montgomery, USN, heavily attacked enemy-held positions on Wake Island with carrier aircraft and ship bombardment, commencing at dawn on October 5, west longitude date."

"Further details are not now available."

The last sentence was taken by many to indicate that the operation may still be underway, especially since Nimitz chose to indicate that yesterday's dawn battering "commenced" the asasult.

Further substantiating the belief that the Wake raid may be but the opening of a strong Pacific offensive

McKibben Enters Plea To Charges

Held In County Jail Pending Disposition Of Case By Court

DEFALCATIONS COVER SEVERAL YEARS

Before Alderman L. C. Mantz on Wednesday afternoon, City Treasurer C. C. McKibben pleaded nolle contendere (no defense) to a charge of embezzlement by a public officer, preferred by County Detective Charles D. Ross.

The embezzlement charged is that of $26,243.51 from the city tax funds which Mr. McKibben admits. He is held in the county jail in default of $10,000 bail.

According to District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson, Mr. McKibben made a statement of the manner in which he took the money. Tax moneys were received, the checks put into the drawer and the cash for them taken out of the drawer. Receipts were issued but the receipts were not posted in the record books.

Turns Over Receipts

Mr. McKibben has turned over receipts issued on April 30 totalling $4808.81 from 11 taxpayers, it is stated. The balance of the money

Local Man Badly Wounded In Action

Pvt. Charles H. Miller Is Wounded Fighting Japs In South Pacific

Word has been received by Mrs. Gertrude M. Miller, of 230 Apple way, stating that her son, Pvt. Charles H. Miller, aged 25 years, was seriously wounded in action in the South Pacific area during the last week in August. No details of the action were received.

Pvt. Miller was inducted into the service in December, 1942, and was placed in communication work, in which he was engaged when wounded. He went overeas the latter part of April after four months of training on this side at Camp Wheeler, Ga.

The last letter received by the mother here stated that he was writing under extreme difficulty, and that his unit not only had to fight the Japs but the jungle as well.

City Without Treasurer Now

McKibben's Resignation As City Treasurer Is Presented Today

BONDING COMPANY AGENTS AWAITED

Today the city of New Castle is without a treasurer, the resignation of C. C. McKibben having been presented and accepted when council met in city hall.

The resignation was written out last night by the treasurer after he had been charged with embezzling city funds. His signature was witnessed by Sheriff Clyde Badger, City Controller S. L. Lockley and McKibben's counsel, Attorney Alvah Shumaker. It was given today to the city clerk, C. Ed. Brown by City Solicitor Robert M. White. It read:

"Honorable Mayor and members of council: I herewith tender my resignation as treasurer of the city of New Castle, effective at once."

Finance Director Albert Hoyland presented the motion of acceptance and all members of council concurred.

Await Bondsmen

Members of city council today stated that they expect a representative of the company which bonded C. C. McKibben as treasurer of the city and school board to arrive here Friday morning. He would have been here this morning but was unable to arrange train arrangements from New York last night, it was stated. The Eagle Indemnity company bonded McKibben for $100,000.

Relative to an audit, City Solicitor Robert M. White said that in his opinion the bonding company will look out for its own interests and probably make an audit of reported defalcations and that City Controller S. L. Lockley who determined there was a shortage will take charge of the city's audit. The loss must be borne by the bonding company.

When members of council were asked how long the city treasury

JAP STEAMER SUNK BY SUB

Tokyo Report Says Submarine Attack Occured Near Oki Island

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(INS)—The Tokyo radio, in a domestic broadcast, quoted an announcement by the railway ministry this morning saying that an enemy submarine had torpedoed a Japanese steamer Oct. 5 on the regular run from Shimononseki on the principal Japanese island of Honshu to Fusan Korea.

The broadcast, reported to the office of war information by United States government monitors, said that despite strenuous efforts by warships and naval planes to rescue the passengers and crew, only 72 of the 616 aboard had been reported saved up to the time of the announcement—6:10 a. m. Tokyo time.

Site of the attack was described by the Tokyo radio as "in the vicinity of Oki island". Oki, some 130 square miles in size, lies in the Tsushima strait between Japan and Korea.

To penetrate those waters an Allied submarine would have to dare risks almost, if not as great, as those that confronted the United States submarine that made its way into Tokyo harbor.

Naval Units Aid Drive Northward By Eighth Army

Nazis Use Panzer Division In Attempt To Halt Drive Toward Pescara

FIFTH ARMY FACES HANDICAP OF RAIN

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS In North Africa, Oct. 7. — Supported by Allied naval units, the British Eighth Army drove northward from the Termoli bridgehead on the Italian Adriatic coast today and the United States Fifth Army sought to make further crossings on the Volturno river on the road to Rome.

Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring moved swiftly to forestall Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's lunge from Termoli toward the large harbor of Pescara, a city on the Adriatic which while far to the east actually lies north of Rome.

Uses Panzer Division

Kesselring flung a complete panzer division against the Eighth Army in a determined attempt to block the push to Pescara, 60 miles to the north of Montgomery's present position.

(Editor's Note: A Reuter dispatch from Allied headquarters reported the British within "striknig distance" of Pescara.)

From Pescara, a great broad highway leads due west into Rome.

The Eighth Army moved out of Termoli under cover of fire from warships which included the destroyers Jarvis and Offa, both veterans of Mediterranean and Adriatic operations.

A downpour of rain softened the ground on the United States Fifth Army front at the Volturno and gave Kesselring an opportunity to switch large units of his forces from west to east.

Counter Thrusts

Kesselring made successive counter thrusts against the British. It was obvious he planned to hold the Eighth Army at all costs and prevent unbalancing of the Wehrmacht line in central Italy.

Five German divisions are now confronting Montgomery and Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark. All are part of the Tenth Army which was vested with responsibility for holding Italy.

Although the wet ground slowed the American advance, fighting was bitter on the west coast as well as

Report 8,307 U. S. Casualties Since Salerno Landing

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Secretary of War Stimson announced today that American units of Gen. Clark's Fifth Army have sustained 8,307 battle casualties since landing at Salerno four weeks ago.

Stimson said 511 were killed, 5,428 wounded and 2,368 missing.

The secretary said that American casualties were somewhat greater than those suffered by British units under Gen. Clark's command.

Stimson reported that the Fifth Army was made up of approximately equal numbers of United States and British troops when it landed. He said, however, that subsequent reinforcements had been largely American, making the composition of the Fifth Army largely American at the present time.

Urges Delay In Channel Attack

Senator Chandler Also Decries British Lack Of Pacific Area Enthusiasm

RUSSIAN BASES FOR JAP ATTACK NEEDED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Sen. Albert B. Chandler (D) Ky., last of five senators to return to Washington from a world tour to battlefronts, on Wednesday demned lack of British enthusiasm for the Pacific war and urged delay in a channel invasion of Europe.

"I am sure of a few factors as the result of our trip," Chandler said. "I believe these things:

"1. If the British would show a little more enthusiasm for the Pacific war, we could ship all weapons and supplies to Allied forces there and shorten the war materially.

"2. A cross-channel invasion of Europe at this time would mean mass murder of our men because of the German defense in depth—which may be as much as a hundred miles."

"3. We need Russian bases for air attacks on Japan and we must hold our bases in China or we will be driven out of China and China will be driven out of the war.

"4. The Japanese are the toughest enemies we have—on land, sea and air.

"5. We must hold all the air bases we need after the war in order to protect ourselves in the future, which means that we must abandon the policy of taking air bases, using them and then moving out after winning victory."

SURPRISED NORWAY RESIDENTS CHEER BOMBER ATTACKS

ant blow by a United States Navy task group now attached to the British home fleet.

Today, as the ships returned to the home fleet anchorage, Vice Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser signaled, "The —— (giving the name of the carrier) did very well. I would be glad if the ships she passes gave her a cheer when she enters the harbor." The British ships complied with resounding cheers as the carrier steamed proudly into its anchorage.

The operations were the first in which planes from an American carrier attacked targets in German-occupied western Europe and were directed against enemy merchant shipping in the vicinity of Boedoe. A large number of carrier planes participated in the attack, which was highly successful. Many hits were made, with 12 of them scored on eight merchantmen of from 3,000 to 10,000 tons each.

Other hits were observed on a landing barge, a 500-ton ship and a 1,200-ton ore vessel. Three American planes were shot down by ack-ack.

Shipping in the Boedoe harbor was among the targets hit, but the Boedoe airdrome and military post were not attacked. No enemy aircraft were sighted while the attack was in progress.

The body of the infant son of Staff Sergt. John A. Cooper and Jean Steele Cooper, 132 Main street, Phoenixville, Pa., arrived in New Castle on Wednesday. The baby died last Saturday.

Funeral services were held at the grave in Slippery Rock cemetery with Rev. Thomas G. Berger in charge.

The Coopers are former New Castle residents.

The Nile river has no tributaries for the last 1700 miles of its long journey to the sea.

WAKE ISLAND ATTACK MAY SIGNIFY OPENING OF PACIFIC OFFENSIVE

was the fact that the operation was launched almost coincidentally with the announcement yesterday that Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, had conferred in Hawaii with his Pacific commanders.

Plans For Campaign

Admiral Nimitz was one of the high-ranking naval officers to confer with Admiral King and Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., commanding the South Pacific, was the other conferee. The discussions were admittedly concerned with "plans for the Pacific campaign."

The current raid on Wake, 1,185 miles southwest of the nearest American base at Midway, was the Ninth Allied operation of the war on that strategic island. A previous sea and air assault on the Jap-captured Atoll was carried out by a naval task force under Admiral Halsey on February 24, 1942.

Seven times so far, American long-range army bombers have raided the island.

Strong Force

The present raid, believed authoritatively to have been carried out by the strongest force yet operating in the Central Pacific, increased the hopes of some observers that a campaign to retake the vital American outpost may soon be launched. It was even considered possible, although no official statement so indicated, that amphibious troops may have accompanied Admiral Montgomery's force.

Wake Island, lying but 1,800 miles from Tokyo, was the scene of a memorable and inspiring stand by a gallant band of 378 United States Marines. It fell before overwhelming Jap forces December 23, 1941.

The strategic value of Wake is apparent to most observers. It lies in a direct line with recently-established American bases on the Ellice Islands of Funafuti and Nanumea, which point northward through the intervening Jap Archipelago of the Gilbert and Marshall Isles.

Japan's Marcus Island lies approximately 825 miles northwest of Wake, while the key Nipponese outpost of Truk is only 1,300 miles to the southwest.

is unaccounted for, but Mr. McKibben told the district attorney he had a record of the defalcations and that no audit would be necessary to show what tax accounts were short.

The district attorney said Mr. McKibben admitted starting his defalcations several years ago but through a continued juggling of the accounts he made it appear that the balances were correct. It now appears that at no time in the past several years has there been as much cash on hand in the city treasury as the books showed.

Mr. McKibben's statement was made in the living room of Sheriff Clyde D. Badger in the presence of District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson, Assistant District Attorney Errol Fullerton, County Detective Charles D. Ross, Mr. McKibben's counsel, Attorney Alvah H. Shumaker, and the court stenographer, Miss Hazel Ryhal.

Will Be Sentenced

With the plea of nolle contendere entered, and a preliminary hearing waived, the way is opened for an early sentence of the city treasurer.

This may not be done for some time, however, as the city council will undoubtedly want to have an accounting while Mr. McKibben is within this jurisdiction.

the east, with Gen. Clark striking incessantly toward the Volturna where the Germans were said to be "holding in some strength," although some American crossings were announced previously.

Kesselring may not be planning a major stand at the Volturno. But the rainfall, together with extensive demolitions on both river banks, combine to confront the Americans with excellent delaying tactics.

Report Towns Taken

(London evening papers reported that five more towns in an arc to the north and west of Naples have fallen to the Americans and British consolidating their positions in the area. The British papers named as taken the road junctions of Qualino and Marano, the port of Possuoli, and Villareca and Arzano.)

Along the Italian front, shaped like a clock at the hour of quarter of twelve, Eisenhower's troops sought to smash the Wehrmacht's river-bank defense.

This so-called "wet line" — the Volturno-Biferno defense—reflects the favorite German holding position and, as in Russia, the forces of Field Marshal Albert Kesselring are making the most of these curving streams to retard the Allies advance on Rome.

On the lower side of the German defense angle, extending from the Tyrrhenian sea to the Benvnto area, American and British forces under Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark were reported "streaming across the Volturno," they officially were revealed to have established a bridgehead across the river which runs some 20 miles north of recently-liberated Naples.

"Crossing River"

(The Cairo radio was quoted by Reuter's late last night as saying that the Fifth Army is "streaming across the Volturno and sweeping on" in its drive on Rome.)

Meanwhile, the British Eighth Army of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery was seeking to extend its positions from Termoli northward along the Adriatic seacoast and across the Italian peninsula toward Rome. The Britons were said to have already crossed the Biferno at some points after "heavy" fighting, during which thunderous artillery barrages and fierce tank assaults wrought heavy casualties upon the Germans.

The crossing of the Volturno by Americans and Britons of Clark's Fifth Army was effected after the capture of three key towns in the western sector of the Italian front. After seizing Foce Di Patria on the gulf of Gaeta, as well as the important inland traffic junctions of Aversa and Maddaloni and scores of smaller villages, the Anglo-American force kept punching at Kesselring's left flank.

German resistance was increasing on both ends of the right-angular front, Gen. Eisenhower, in a communique, related that the Fifth Army "has continued to make progress against stiffening opposition with an increase in demolitions, craters and mines on the route along which they are advancing."

"The bringing forward of reserves and the repair of bridges is proceeding rapidly," the bulletin added.

ADMINISTRATION TAX PROGRAM IS STRONGLY OPPOSED

000,000 through moderate increases in some income tax brackets, imposition of heavier excise levies and an overhaul of estate and gift taxes. or,

3. Sidetracking of all plans for increased taxes.

Second Course Favored

Although the sales tax supporters appeared to have the greatest numbers, it was considered extremely noteworthy that ranking members were more inclined to the second course—adoption of a greatly reduced general revenue bill.

Only a few believed that the revenue question would be sidetracked entirely, but they based their contention on the possibility that a deadlock over sales-versus-income taxes might occur.

Vinson's appearance before the committee yesterday had been widely heralded. Holding the floor for an hour without interruption, Vinson based his plea for adoption of the administration's program on the grounds that the nation is dangerously near inflation. He said that forty-two billion dollars in excess purchasing power would have to be siphoned off the national income if disaster were to be avoided, and advocated the administration's tax program as the sound way to do it.

Members of the committee immediately drove home their main objection to the bill—that under the proposed increased income tax rates 41 per cent of the burden would be borne by those in the upper income brackets receiving only one-sixth of the income, while an estimated 23,500 persons in the so-called inflationary "pressure" group at lower income levels would either be relieved of paying any taxes at all or find their 1944 burden less than for 1943.

An enemy light cruiser was damaged at Kavieng, New Ireland, during continued aerial attacks on enemy shipping and installations in the New Britain area. Rabaul, main Japanese base in the Southwest Pacific, lies on the eastern tip of New Britain.

Fighter-bombers kindled numerous fires among supply dumps at Gasmata, enemy base on the south-central coast of New Britain. Reconnaissance bombers bombed and strafed installations at nearby Garove Island, setting a wharf ablaze and causing large fires in the building area.

Heavy bombers soared over Dutch New Guinea to blast Kokas and Bira and night reconnaissance aircraft Manokwari, starting large fires.

Allied aircraft continued to attack enemy shipping lanes between beleaguered Kolombangar Island in the Central Solomons and Bougainville to the north. Fighters destroyed barges off the north coast of Choiseul Island, near Kolombangara, and reconnaissance planes bombed enemy shipping off the east coast of Bougainville.

Indications are that Bernard Hanlon who won the Republican nomination for city treasurer, may be named by council to take charge of the office, and that the school board will do likewise upon the bonding company's completion of their audit and upon presentation of a bond.

According to council the city controller has proposed that statements shall be sent out to all taxpayers showing the amount of taxes they are shown as owing. If they are not credited with having paid taxes and produce a receipt, the payment will be recognized.

NEW TYPE U. S. HELMET IS AID

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—(INS)—The new-type U. S. army helmet has prevented many serious head wounds in this war, members of the 93rd annual meeting of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania learned today.

Dr. Francis C. Grant, staff member of the University of Pennsylvania learned today.

Dr. Francis C. Grant, staff members of the University of Pennsylvania hospital, told the physicians, however, that the percentage of head wounds incurred in this war is greater than in World War one because of aerial bombings and higher explosives moving at greater speed.

The society unanimously named Dr. William Bates, professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania hospital, as president-elect of the group. Next year he will succeed Dr. Augustus S. Kech, of Altoona, as president.

Red Army positions around Gomel were reported considerably improved as a result of battles within the last few days during which 800 enemy officers and men were slain and 12 big guns, six mortars, 49 machine guns and ammunition supplies were seized.

Heavy Losses

On the Mogilev front, the Roslavl rifle division inflicted heavy losses on a detachment of German tommygunners. The Nazis were left unprotected after a Russian anti-tank rifleman put three Nazi tanks out of action and the remaining two supporting the attack fled. In another sector, a Nazi force dislodged from a strongly fortified defense plant left 30 dead on the battlefield.

Planes of the Baltic fleet sank two German supply ships totalling 13,000 tons and airmen of the Black sea fleet heavily raided a Nazi-held port, sinking a 1,500-ton ship, two landing barges and a tug loaded with infantrymen.

Get famous for this luscious

SUNDAY MORNING COFFEE CAKE!

Bake it by popular request—every Sunday in the year! But, of course, bake it with reliable, cream of tartar ROYAL! For its even, "steady action" helps protect your baking. Helps give light, tender quick breads—high, fine-textured, fresh-keeping cakes. When baking at home, safeguard scarce rationed ingredients. Always use ROYAL cream of tartar BAKING POWDER.

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup sugar
¼ cup shortening
1 tablespoon melted margarine
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons Royal Cream of Tartar Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
1 egg, well beaten

Sift together flour and sugar; add shortening and mix in thoroughly with fork. Measure ¾ cup of this mixture; add melted margarine and cinnamon and mix well. Reserve to put on top of coffee cake. To remaining flour mixture, add baking powder, salt, milk and well-beaten egg; beat well. Pour into greased 8-inch square pan; sprinkle with cinnamon mixture. Bake in moderate oven at 375° F. about 40 minutes. To serve, cut in 9 squares. Easy and delicious!

THE BEST SELLER

FROM time immemorial the Bible has been the best seller among all books. Just now its sale has been so increased that the Bible manufacturers are behind in their orders and many of them say they will not be able to meet current demands for many months.

The people of this worn-torn world always turn to religion when the earth is shaken by international combat. The present great struggle furnishes no exception. We find an increase in religious emotion everywhere. It is present even in Russia where the government for years sought to stamp out Christianity.

The great increase in the sale of Bibles in this country is one indication of this religious revival. People are insisting that their sons, called away to military service take their Bibles with them. Moreover, the folks back home are turning to the Good Book in search of comfort and reassurance and they are not searching in vain.

Another indication of the religious revival is the increasing attendance in our churches. In time of extreme stress and sorrow man is finding that he cannot bear his troubles alone. He turns to Providence for that aid and comfort which human beings cannot offer him.

FLYING ROUND THE WORLD

So many folks have flown around the world of late that only the passengers themselves find anything very thrilling about such trips, and they become pretty blase after the second or third trip.

Because of the war, civilians, however willing to pay the cost, can not step in and buy tickets for some far corner of the world as a matter of routine. But those with genuine business can always arrange to fly to any out-of-the-way corner on short notice in much safety and relative comfort.

It was not thus on April 6, 1924, when eight Army flyers set out from Seattle, Wash., in four planes specially designed and built for the venture by a young man named Donald Douglas.

There were a major, a captain, three first lieutenants, two sergeants, and one civilian with the temporary rank of second lieutenant. It was their assignment to fly something more than 25,000 miles around the world. Nobody, up to that time, ever had flown around the world.

On September 28, 1924—more than five and a half months later by elapsed time, during which they had been actually in the air 363 flying hours—two of the planes, piloted respectively by Lieut. Erik H. Nelson and Capt. Lowell H. Smith, landed back at Seattle. They had covered 26,345 miles. With Nelson was Jack Harding, civilian. With Smith was Lieut. Leslie P. Arnold.

The other two planes had been forced down, one, piloted by Maj. Frederick L. Martin, in Alaska. The other, flown by Lieut. Leigh Wade, sank in the North Atlantic after flying across the Aleutians to Japan; across the East China sea to Shanghai; thence by way of French Indo-China, Siam, Rangoon; across the Malay peninsula to Burma; across the Indian ocean to Calcutta; then to Bagdad, Constantinople, Paris, Vienna, Strasbourg, London, and Iceland on the way back toward the United States. He and Sergt. Henry Ogden, who was with him, were rescued.

That flight was possible only through intensive organization and preparation. Ground men went in advance to each projected landing spot and arranged for supplies.

On the basis of that then spectacular adventure, experts say that our astoundingly successful Air Transport Command in this war rests. Repair and weather bases, established along the route blazed by those flyers, make possible achievements in air transport which can hardly even be suggested until the war is over.

To the eight intrepid flyers this country and the world owes a lasting debt of gratitude.

LONG DELAYED TRUTH

Somebody in the Japanese propaganda service must believe that if truth is held back long enough it will be well blunted.

Lieutenant-Colonel Kunio Akiyama, of the Japanese Army's press section, in a radio broadcast has informed the Japanese public for the first time of the Bismarck Sea defeat of last March, in which an entire convoy of twenty-two ships enroute to New Guinea was sunk by Allied bombers.

All that Colonel Akiyama had to say was that a Japanese convoy in the New Guinea area was attacked by more than 100 planes and all the transports were sunk. It was inserted in his talk as an almost casual illustration of his main thesis that the Allied air force is the main foe of the Japanese.

The belated disclosure of a Japanese defeat may serve another purpose. It may be part of the diet of gloom which the Japanese government is now serving its people, with plans for the mobilization of the entire civilian population and for the evacuation of governmental departments and industrial establishments from Tokio as the main dish.

The Japanese are excellent copyists. They may have in mind the manner in which German propagandists treated the Stalingrad theme. It is true that the Japanese have no Stalingrad of their own at the moment. They have relatively minor reverses to subject to the same somber treatment, but they may suspect that something comparable to Stalingrad lies just ahead and that preparation of the proper public mood cannot be started too soon.

Our slogan for today There'll always be a tax collector.

We are ready to bet Hitler would like to trade the job of Fuehrering for a paint bucket and brush and the good old days.

Now they say there will be a scarcity of coal this winter so you may be urged to reconvert to oil before the violets bloom again.

We know an old fellow who delighted in collecting antiques until he set about finding him a third wife. Then he wanted a streamlined model.

We all have our ups and downs. If you don't believe it consider the positions of Mussolini and Haile Selassie as compared with what they were five years ago.

The situation in Central Europe is rapidly getting to the point where instead of "Heil Hitler" it will be "File Hitler," and the filing will be done in the wastebasket.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PLAY FOR ACTIVE CHILD

NORMALLY THE tot does not sit and just do nothing. He is a ceaseless actor while awake. Nor does the youngster at the age of two, or even five, often concentrate on one interest or activity for long. Nevertheless, under favorable conditions, he may do so for a longer period than we suppose. Our aim should be to help bring about more and more often these periods of sustained interest and action.

When the tot alone rushes from one thing to another constantly, or when with another child they merely run and chase each other shouting and yelling, he is not, except for leg and lung exercise, getting useful experience. We must admit, however, that when they play "Cop and Robber," undesirable as this may be, they may be cultivating considable concentration.

The earlier and oftener the child's outer action expresses inner (mental) action and connects with it the better educational value, as a rule, is derived therefrom.

Right Kind of Toys

Parents can contribute to this by putting proper toys and tools into the youngster's hand and helping him gain prolonged satisfaction from them. (A graded list of toys and tools may be had for postage by writing me at 235 East 45th stret, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.)

We encourage him when we appreciate his crudest constructions and creations.

If we are skillful, we offer good suggestions here and there as he colors, draws, scribbles, cuts and makes things with his hands. When a playmate works with him, they have less urge merely to rush about and chase after each other, and they can more easily be restrained from roughhouse.

Many parents write me of the child three or four years of age who "won't sit still long enough to be read to." He still might be trained in concentration though much thought, patience and effort will be needed by his parents in applying all the foregoing principles.

Perhaps this child needs more sleep and a calmer program and family atmosphere. Show affection to the child before showing him a book. Then as the child looks at the picture of the beautifully illustrated book he may also hear some of what is being read about these pictures. As soon as his interest lags put the book away. Bring it back later. Do not read while the child moves about.

Continuing this procedure from day to day, you won't find it long before the child will be begging you to read. I can think of no better training in the kind of concentration needed for success at school than continual reading to the tot. What a deal of happiness, moreover, it can bring the child and parent.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My son 14 years old rarely wants to take his little brother 5 with him. How can I make him want to do this?

A. I don't think you can. Why should you? What normal boy his age wants to have his younger brother be a tag-along?

Q. Ever since my 3-year-old girl was a baby she has been crazy over wool from a blanket. She will twirl it about her nose at night while in bed till asleep. Might there be something lacking in her diet?

A. Hardly; these little whims hit on by accident often persist. Sew over one end of the blanket some light cotton cloth, use some substitutes, or just ignore the matter.

Q When my three year old must be punished I spank him and then have him sit for fifteen minutes in a chair. I don't get very good results.

A. Either spank him or have him sit in the chair. Don't use two punishments for the same single act. If he will stay in the chair, that is better than spanking. Be sure you are consistent. When you punish him for once, punish him for always, unless you discover you have made an error in which case tell the child you have and beg his pardon. Just to spank a child occasionally and try to manage him by yelling at him or threatening him is a good way to cultivate disobedience in him.

"Well, I heard him say in his sleep last night, 'I'll stand Pat'."

BRIDE ENTERTAINING HUSBAND'S FRIENDS

"What are the rules governing a recent bride's invitation list? For instance, may she properly invite to a party those of her husband's friends who have never called on her since her marriage? I am giving my first big party and would like to "break the ice." I do not, however, know whether I may invite his friends who are not known to me. We were married quietly and sent out announcements only."—Estelle.

Answer: Your husband's friends automatically become your friends after marriage, provided, of course, you are compatible. You may invite to your party all of his friends whom you think he would enjoy seeing while on his leave. This is proper even though they have failed to call on you. Usually when a bride and groom return from their wedding trip, their friends and families call on them in their new home and in turn invite them to parties, all of which starts them on a social whirl. But the exigencies of war, the gasoline and food situation have made so many changes in our social lives that much may be forgiven today.

Women who are left behind while their husbands and sweethearts are off to war should take advantage of every social opportunity to keep busy and try to prevent the loneliness that inevitably follows this separation. Childless wives whose husbands are in the armed forces will do themselves, as well as industry, a favor if they will seek some kind of employment for the duration. Keep busy and you will escape the various probias developed by idle minds, especially during a war.

Answer: The guests rise when the procession starts down the aisle and remain standing throughout the ceremony and the recessional, except in churches requiring that the guests kneel down

INVENTORY

Two merchants — partners—went to Texas in the early days. Beginning with nothing, they built a business of no mean proportions. When they were getting old, they imported a young man from the east to manage their store for them. He proved to be a worthy individual. Everything went along swimmingly. The partners acting merely in an advisory capacity.

With the coming of a new year, the manager asked what he should do about taking inventory.

"Why do you want to take inventory?" he was asked.

The question took his breath. He had never heard of such inefficiency. "Why," he answered, "to know how much we made, of course!"

The old fellow looked upon him kindly. "Come with me, Charlie," he said. They walked toward the back of the store. Hidden away on a shelf was an old box containing an assortment of three pairs of suspenders, a rubber collar, a stiff-bosomed shirt, two odd sox and a crushed derby.

"What's this worth, Charlie?"

"I wouldn't give a dime for the whole business," was the rather short answer.

"All right," said the old man, "this is what we started with. The rest is profit!"

VANQUISHED

A man passing a saloon was suddenly startled by a figure flying out of the door and landing in a heap on the sidewalk.

"You have been thrown out," observed the passerby.

"Yes," said the victim, "but you wait! There are four of them in there. I am going in right now to throw them out one by one; stand by and count."

The man re-entered the saloon, and at once there was a commotion inside, and again a man came flying out.

"One!" cried the counter.

"Never mind counting," said a voice from the sidewalk; "it's me again".

Some men really only control one vote, and very often it's hard for them to do that.

Blackout News About Radar In Washington
Possibilities Of Its Use Given As Cause
McNutt Clings To Voluntary Labor Supply

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Oct 7—All media for the written word and the voice have before them a request by the Office of Censorship NOT to present statements on the secrets of radar.

Censorship does not forbid, in fact it encourages, telling the customers that the reason for the blackout is that radar has great possibilities and obviously we do not want the enemy to gain any ideas from speculative discussion in the United States.

Insistent clamoring by manufacturers and the press generally forced the Army and Navy to relent somewhat last spring from its original hush-hush policy. The brief, carefully edited official announcement did little more than confirm existence of radar.

However, that disclosure evoked growing advertisements and news stories, each a bit more revealing than the last.

But there was another reason for the blackout on radar. It stemmed from concern that the rash of publicity was placing an unfair burden upon the thousands of workmen in radar, and even more secret electrical devices, who really konw the still hidden secrets and have loyally kept a pledge of utter silence almost to the man for 21 months of war.

Paul V. McNutt, war manpower director, continues to adhere to voluntary procedure to supply labor for war plants. His refusal to say that compulsory legislation must be passed now coincides with views of many legislators that there are still some other things that can be done to augment the army of war workers.

The recent orders of Economic Stabilization Director James Byrnes to relieve the war plants' manpower shortage on the west coast are believed to be in the nature of an experiment.

If Byrnes' plan to co-ordinate employment, selective service and the efforts of managements of war plants succeeds in mobilizing the west coast for the added burden that will fall to it when the war against Japan goes into high gear, the formula will be applied to other "tight" labor spots.

GOLFER AND GENTLEMAN

Sam Snead is called "Sammy" by his admirers, although why, I can't tell, for Snead is a tall, long-armed, husky golfer who can drive a golf ball three hundred yards from a tee, and more, if the fairway happens to be covered with resilient turf. Some way the word "Sammy" is associated in my mind with a diminutive child-like man—in no way like Snead. Anyway, Sam Snead without doubt, would be the greatest golfer in the world today if he could control his temper. Robert Jones had the same temper when he was a young man and, fortunately, before it was too late, he learned how to control it.

Sam Snead is now a unit in the United States Navy, being trained at the Naval Training School in San Diego, California. At this training school there is laid out a very beautiful six-hole golf course; not an easy course but the greens are beautiful and the fairway is irreproachable, but the rough is rough—trees and traps and the holes are not short holes. It has become, since Snead became one of them, a great joy to the golf disposed Navy men when they may obtain the privilege of playing golf with him. This leads to a very interesting story.

A young lady who had acquired a public school position as a teacher in San Diego was in the great railroad station in Los Angeles, on her way to San Diego. She bought her ticket and had been warned that there was probably no seat to be had on the train she expected to take. At the gates to the long runway leading to the trains, she was stopped and again told that there was no room for her on the train. A tall Navy man immediately spoke up to the gate-keeper. "But she is my wife" and the two of them passed on into the runway.

The young lady had never seen this young man. He was a stranger to her and he introduced himself to her by merely saying: "Just call me Sam. I am going to San Diego, too." She had no idea who he was: just another sailor man to her but he was very polite. They acquired seats on the train and after being seated a chap came through the train, stopped and said: "Why, hello, Snead!" That meant something to the young lady for she played golf and joining the names of Sam and Snead knew at once who her phoney "husband" was and turning to him said: "And so you are the great 'Sammy' Snead, the golfer?" "Well," Sam said, "I play golf."

And right there started a mutual admiration, resulting in Sam inviting the young lady to come to the Training Station at a certain hour and having a game. And that has been going on now for some little time.

Sam Snead's action proved that he is not only a great golfer, but also a great gentleman.

"Interpretion" America

Washington, Oct. 7.

IT WAS stated the other day that OWI's appropriation for foreign propaganda is almost used up and that Mr. Elmer Davis, head of the organization, is about to ask Congress for more money. If this is true the luckless Mr. Davis is in for another painful experience. It seems a particularly unfortunate moment to make the request.

LAST SPRING, while Congress pared the OWI's domestic appropriation to the point where the awful threat that Mr. Davis might resign was made, the foreign appropriation was hardly cut at all. What Congress gave was approximately $20,000,000. Now, it is said, this has about gone. And if the foreign propaganda is to be kept going more millions will have to be pried out of Congress. It is not going to be easy to do that because the feeling about our foreign propaganda has greatly changed in the last few months. The reason the foreign appropriation was left almost intact last time while the domestic appropriation was heavily slashed, was because Congress did not want to be put in a position of opposing anything the President wanted for prosecution of the war abroad

SOME ARE now beginning to say that perhaps this blanket generosity has been somewhat abused by the Administration and that it can be carried to a point which certainly will not help shorten the war. In any event, at the moment, they feel that way about the OWI's foreign service. This may do injustice to Mr. Robert Sherwood, head of the foreign department and, despite his New Deal zealotry, a man of character and charm. But the feeling does exist. Several things have contributed to this sentiment. Probably the President's public rebuke of the inept and blundering OWI broadcast at the time of the fall of Mussolini started the change. And his failure to take Mr. Davis to the Quebec conference, where British Minister of Information Bracken was most conspicuously present, assuredly did the organization no good. Also there are other causes, including the unfavorable comments of recently returned war correspondents who claim our propaganda is so ineffectual in neutral countries as to be of no use at all. Then, there is the trenchant report to the Senate last week of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who, with other Senators had just come back from a tour which took him around the world.

SENATOR LODGE was one of those who voted for the large foreign department appropriation last

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

I had lunch with an attractive married woman today.

(Yes, my wife knows about it, it was business.)

She is not at all happy in her married life, she told me. As a matter of fact, she is trying very hard to find some way of getting a divorce.

"What's the matter?" I asked her. "Does he drink? Is he unfaithful? Does he mistreat you?"

"No, it's just the other way around," she said with a sigh, "he's so good, he just bores me to distraction."

And then she went on to explain. He has a good job and gets promoted at regular intervals.

He is so punctual that you can set your watch by him.

He always gets up at exactly the same minute, eats the same breakfast of orange juice, two four-minute boiled eggs, two slices of toast, one cup of coffee, one lump of sugar at 7:45 every morning.

He comes home from work at the same time every evening, has his dinner at 6:30 sharp, reads two evening newspapers, listens to the same radio programs, yawns at 10:15 and goes to bed.

He kisses her dutifully when he leaves, returns, and retires, calls her the same "Momsie" day after day and never once strays away from the straight and narrow path.

"The monotony is terrible," she concluded, "if he'd only look at another woman every now and then."

This was a new one on me.

I had heard women complain about how terrible their husbands are, how they flirt and drink and stay out late and keep them on tenterhooks.

"Would you really like to have him misbehave?" I asked my luncheon guest.

"Certainly. It's so nice to have a husband come home late and try to fit himself back into a wife's good graces.

"He never gets by with it, but he thinks he does. It's so boyish and delightful.

"And usually he brings candy or flowers. Then the wife may pout for a while—and later comes the making up.

"I'm just aching for a good scrap with my husband. It would be like catsup on a tasteless piece of meat."

Senate Acts On Draft Measure

Substitute For Bill Barring Draft Of Fathers Is Given Approval

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Leaders of the House military affairs committee indicated today that the fight for draft deferment of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers will be abandoned as a result of defeat of the Wheeler bill in the Senate.

The Senate passed a measure tightening up rules for occupational deferment in the government and private industry, but scrapped the proposal of Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D) Mont., to halt induction of the 446,000 pre-Pearl Harbor fathers until January 1.

Chairman Andrew J. May (D) Ky., of the House committee, disclosed his intention of abandoning his own father's deferment bill when it became apparent that the Senate would reject the Wheeler measure.

Declining comment after the Senate acted, May said he would place the bill passed by the Senate before his committee.

"I think our committee might ignore the whole thing," said Rep. Costello (D) Calif., chairman of a House military affairs sub-committee investigating the draft.

Substitute Bill

The Senate passed a bill under Wheeler's name, but with his own proposals stricken out and replaced by the Bailey-Clark substitute. The substitute:

1. Makes "indispensability" the test of deferment of government and private industrial employes, who are deferred for occupational reasons, instead of the present 'irreplaceability" test.

2. Gives Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, wide power to review occupational deferments. Also requires approval of draft appeals boards for deferment of persons in industry if employes are far removed from the draft boards where they registered.

3. Directs the President to name a board of five physicians, including one each from Army and Navy to review and determine whether mental, physica' and moral standards are too high for the services.

4. Gives father registrants right to obtain pre-induction physical examination.

5. Directs authorities to make every effort to exhaust draft classes before pre-Pearl Harbor fathers are called.

6. Increases family allowances to $80 for wife and one child, with $20 for each additional child.

The Bailey-Clark substitute was passed by a vote of 69 to 0 as the climax of the three weeks fight of Sen. Wheeler to halt the induction of fathers, which is now under way.

dreams of post war air transportation when it was learned that conversion of the thousands of Army bombers into peace-time flying planes is considered impractical by the experts.

Army bombers, according to their designers, are so constructed that their balance is achieved by placement of guns, armor and other wartime equipment. To strip these ships would destroy the balance of the planes and make them unairworthy.

But there is a bright side, too. Already, major aircraft plants are planning rapid conversion to peacetime plane production as soon as the war ends.

Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, who likes and trusts newsmen and does not believe in hiding everything he knows under a brass hat, is letting newsmen see a 30,000-word report containing colorful and hitherto secret sidelights on America's part in the war.

Of particular surprise to the war department's public relations branch, which had closely guarded the document against newsmen's eyes, is General Marshall's disclosure that American troops—probably Air Force patrols—are stationed along the west coast of South America.

Troops are stationed at strategic points in Chile, Peru, Ecuador and the off-coast Galapagos islands to prevent Japan from kicking the United States in the pants with a surprise invasion of South America or to make a thrust at the Panama Canal.

spring. He says now that he thinks, perhaps, he made a mistake, and urges that the kind of propaganda we are now spreading in friendly nations be discontinued in the national interests. These, and some other things, have not strengthened the case of the OWI in Congress. Nor is it likely that the plans of Mr. Davis to augment his army of speech makers in England will appeal very greatly to that body. Mr. Davis explains that his list of speakers is made up in association with the British Ministry of Information; that the State Department approves the names and that Ambassador Winant will approve their speeches; that only their traveling expenses and $10 a day will be paid them by the OWI; that the chief "interpret" the workers of American defense factories to British workers.

THIS IS the argument, but members of the Senate who have heard it and read the list of names are disposed to ask a number of questions. They want to know, for example, how genuine is this 'demand' of the British workman to have the American workman "interpreted" to him. It is certainly a little difficult to understand. They also want to know whether, with ships and planes crowded to capacity, the value of these speeches is such as to justify the space which these oratorical ladies and gentlemen take in going and coming, to say nothing of the food they consume in a rigidly rationed nation. They would like to know, too, whether the labor representatives, who are more numerous than any other class on Mr. Davis' list, will explain to the British workmen how much more money the American factory worker gets a week than the British worker, how much fewer hours he works, how much less he is taxed and how far short of full production the strikes, slowdowns and walkouts have compelled the American industrial effort to fall.

OR WILL these labor orators sent over by the OWI merely "interpret" the American defense worker in the terms used by those two professionals, Mr. Philip Murray, of the CIO, and Mr. William Green, of the AFL, whose regular line is to beat their breasts, proclaim their own super patriotism, point to their phony no-strike-pledges and wholly ignore the stream of strikes, walkouts and slowdowns that have followed. Inasmuch as the labor speakers whom Mr. Davis is sending over have been picked for him by the CIO and the AFL, which is to say by Mr. Murray and Mr. Green, it is reasonable to think that their "interpretation" of the part of American union labor in the war will be precisely the interpretation of Mr. Murray and Mr. Green, which is inaccurate, prejudiced, one-sided, misleading and partisan.

What Noted People Say

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt: "I ask you to remember that the U.S.O. is your share of what we are doing for our own fighting men, and the forces behind the lines. I ask you to consider that war prisoner's aid does what no government can do. I ask you to think of the United Seamen's Service in terms of the people's debt to the men who took our ships across in the darkest hours of the war."

NEW YORK—Count Carlo Sforza. "What matters now to the 45 million Italians in Italy and to 11 millions of citizens of Italian origin in the two Americas is to save Italy —her freedom, her honor."

PHILADELPHIA—Former rubber director William Jeffers: "This is war, and it is the duty of the rubber companies as well as every other industry in the country to think more about winning the war and getting the job done, and less about what their position might be post war."

NEW YORK—James L. Fly, chairman federal communications: "We're confident that free men can appraise the wheat and the chaff and the dictators will be unable to alienate citizens of these democracies from the governments they themselves control."

So now we're burning surplus coffee for want of warehouses? No matter how the situation changes, we can find a way to be dumb.

Dr. J. R. Schultz Will Be Allegheny College President

Inaugural Exercises October 16 Will Install College's Fourteenth President

MEADVILLE, Oct. 7.—Dr. John Richie Schultz, acting president of Allegheny College for the past year, will on October 16 be officially inaugurated as president of the historic northwestern Pennsylvania college which he has guided with notable success through the past twelve months.

Since he was advanced from dean of men and professor of English to fill the gap created by the resignation of Dr. William P. Tolley, now Syracuse University chancellor, Dr. Schultz has seen Allegheny College become a training center for the Army Air Forces. Now beginning its 129th academic year, Allegheny has the largest student body in its history.

Andrew W. Robertson, Pittsburgh industrial executive and chairman of the college board of trustees, will be the installing officer. Bishop James Henry Straughn, of the Pittsburgh area, Methodist church, will deliver the invocation.

Addresses will be given by President Alan Valentine of the University of Rochester and the new president's predecessor, Chancellor Tolley.

Sumner E. Nichols, Erie banker, and Robert S. Bates, Meadville publisher, will extend greetings from the alumni and the community, respectively.

Dr. Schultz, who will be Allegheny's 14th president and its fifth wartime leader, will deliver his inaugural address on "Allegheny and the Years to Come."

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH—It's a tough life for a horse with a bum leg. A six-year-old dappled gray named Bob lay on a Pittsburgh street for eight hours before its owner and humane society agents could find a truck to use as an ambulance. It was taken to a veterinarian.

TRANSFER—The only camp in Pennsylvania bearing the name of a Pennsylvanian killed in action is Camp Reynolds, formerly known as the Shenango Personnel Replacement Depot. Maj. Gen. John Fulton Reynolds, a native of Lancaster, was killed at Gettysburg.

HARBORCREEK—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Walter have weathered the marital seas for 68 years. He is 89 and she is 85. They were married 1875.

LEWISBURG—Rear Admiral Randall Jacobs, chief of naval personnel, will be the speaker at Bucknell university's first fall commencement on October 23. Bucknell's president, Capt. Arnaud C. Marts, who is now stationed at Coast Guard headquarters in Washington, will preside at the commencement ceremonies.

STATE COLLEGE—The campus of Pennsylvania State college was scoured recently for students who looked like Boris Karloff and Teddy Roosevelt. Prof. Frank Neusbaum needed them for student production of "Arsenic and Old Lace".

NORRISTOWN—Electric service in Norristown and surrounding communities was disrupted recently by a green, wet weed. The weed was thrown by boys across high tension wires.

CHESTER—The inmates at Broadmeadows Farms, a Delaware county institution, are apparently a a bunch of crooks. The September grand jury charged that the convicts were stealing hens from the prison chicken coop and "secretly disposing of same".

DOYLESTOWN—Joseph R. McEliott, 26, and Gene L. Capone, 18, of Trenton, N. J., reportedly told fellow inmates at the Bucks county prison that "this is a 'hick' jail; we'll be home soon." Prison officials caught them, however, as they were attempting to dig their way out, and placed them in solitary confinement.

CORONER'S JURY ORDERS SAFETY STEPS AT PLANT

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 7.—(INS)—The Shenango Furnace company today had been ordered by a coroner's jury to improve working conditions and to hire a safety director at its Sharpsville plant.

The jury, investigating the deaths last week of Clyde Woods, of Sharpsville, and James Crowl, of nearby Greenville, held that no one was criminally responsible for the mishaps. The men were crushed to death in a cylinder on a blowing machine.

A copy of the jury's findings will be sent to the Pennsylvania Department of Labor, which will be asked to enforce the order.

Gen. Clark Says Allies Will Soon Occupy Rome

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NAPLES, Oct. 7. — Lieut.-Gen. Mark W. Clark, now leading a fighting force of doughboys and tommies on the road to Rome, arrived in Naples Wednesday and expressed full confidence that the Allies will occupy the ancient Italian capital.

General Clark, who personally supervised fighting for the critical Salerno bridgehead during the dangerous days of that furious battle, came to Naples—whose fall came as a result of the Salerno success—on what was described as "an official visit".

To British, Canadian and American correspondents, General Clark spoke with nigh optimism of future developments expected in the Italian campaign. His attitude was cheerful and bouyant as he spoke of the fighting now taking place or shaping up for the near future within Italy itself.

Asked if he felt optimistic about the prospects of taking Rome, he answered briskly.

"You bet your life!"

Then he added:

"I hope it will be soon."

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER
City Health Superintendent

HARD OF HEARING

To be hard of hearing is a calamity.

The trouble mostly begins in childhood.

Sometimes it is very slight and soon forgotten. There is a cold and later the ear runs a little. Nobody pays much attention. The doctor is not consulted.

Years later the hearing begins to be poor.

Whenever a child shows any indication of ear trouble, the doctor should be consulted. Children's ears should be tested to see about the hearing.

If a baby cannot hear a watch tick, there is perhaps something wrong.

Do not wait until school age. See about it right away.

A running ear is always dangerous. It is dangerous to the person who has it. It is dangerous to other people.

Some of the stuff we hear is not worth much but who wants to be deaf.

Gaiters New Shoe Experiment For Men

Not 'Get A Horse' But 'Get A Gaiter' May Be Coming Footgear Fashion

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—(INS)—The shoes with the cloth uppers that grandfather wore are on their way back.

Shoe factories already are working on samples, experimenting with styles and materials for their sale as non-rationed products.

The lowest leather stock inventory in 20 years and a shortage of manpower translated into steadily declining production is responsible, a spokesman for the New England Shoe and Leather Association said today.

Already men's shoes with cloth uppers are in mass production, but these are for lend-lease shipments abroad, exclusively.

This shoe, however, would be scorned by the American male. It is made in one color, brown drab, the cloth for the uppers reclaimed from rejected army tents.

In the men's non-rationed does now being processed considerable attention is being paid style, color and detail.

Gabardine, cotton, rayon and felt composition are being tried for the uppers. Soles are being made of pressed leather shavings and waste, plastics, and pressed, impregnated layers of wool.

UNINSTRUCTED DELEGATION IS SEEN FOR STATE

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Sentiment for an uninstructed delegation to the 1944 Republican national convention was reported strong today among G.O.P. leaders in Pennsylvania.

Gov. Edward Martin, a delegate to the 1940 convention at Philadelphia, said he was opposed to sending an "instructed delegation" with orders to stand fast behind one candidate. He added that local sentiment also appeared opposed to such action.

"I made a survey of the state," he said, "and the greater number of our leaders are for a united and uninstructed delegation to the 1944 Republican convention. I wholeheartedly concur in this view."

Pennsylvania will be represented at the convention by 70 delegates. Two will be selected from each of the state's 33 congressional districts while four others will be elected at-large.

A glass being perfected for the windshields of post-war autos contains no silica and neither rain nor snow will stick to it to obscure vision.

Communion was observed in the United Presbyterian church last Sunday morning with the post-communion service in the evening at eight o'clock. Miss Dorothy Mayberry presided. Special music was given by a young people's choir directed by Glenn Patterson. An offering for the James McKnight fund was a special feature.

There will be no morning worship service in the U. P. church next Sunday morning due to the pastor conducting communion at the Neshannock church. Sabbath school will be held at 10 o'clock.

George Patterson was elected by the U. P. Sunday school to be its delegate to the state Sabbath school convention this month.

MARY JANES MEETING

Mrs. David Wilson was a special guest of the Mary Janes Missionary society at their October meeting in the home of Mrs. Esther Shaffer Tuesday evening. In the absence of the scheduled leader, Margaret Bowden conducted the devotional meeting. The theme was "The Re-Making of a Nation". Esther Shaffer gave the topic, "The Changing Type of Immigrants"; Helen Young the topic, "No More Strangers—But Fellow-Heirs", and Jane Reeher, "The Second Generation". Eleven members answered to roll call. Tentative plans for the annual thank offering for the church were made, with the secretary, Helen Martin, to work with the other missionary societies in the church in arranging the program.

Dorothy Smith, president of the Mary Janes, led the business session. Orders were received for Christmas cards. Sock dolls are being made by the members to be sent to a negro mission for Christmas.

The fall rally of Mercer Presbyterial was announced for the Lebanon church for Thursday, Oct. 14, with afternoon and evening sessions. Dinner will be served.

MERCER PRESBYTERY

Mercer Presbytery meets in the East Brook United Presbyterian church on Tuesday, Oct. 12, for morning and afternoon sessions. Dinner will be served at noon by the ladies of the church.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Enrollment For Part-Time Shop Training Urged

Openings At Vocational School On 6 P. M. And 12:30 A. M. Shifts

There are openings now at the Vocational School on East Lutton street on either of two shifts, the 6 p. m. to 12:30 a. m., or the 12:30 to 7 a. m., it was announced today at the United States employment office.

This training course is free, there is no enrollment fee or cost for books, Earl M. Cass, director of the school, emphasized. Value of the training is shown by the fact that to date nearly all, both men and women, who have completed the course have already been placed in local industry.

Commenting on the placement of trainees, Mrs. Wilda K. Patterson, of the U. S. E. S. office, said that the peak of demand for trainees has not yet been reached.

Vocational school training is open to both men and women and it is possible to enroll for part-time training of only two hours a night any number of days a week.

Application may be made at the Vocational School after 6:30 p. m. to Mr. Cass or between 8:30 a. m. and 5 p. m. at the U. S. E. S. office.

Convicted Woman To Ask New Trial

Attorneys For Mrs. Holt Get Time Extension To Make Formal Appeal

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 7.—(INS)—Blonde and beautious Nancy Jeannette Holt, who has a life of imprisonment before her, was granted an additional 30 days today in which to file an appeal against her first degree murder conviction.

Judge Challen W. Waychoff, who originally stipulated defense attorneys were to file appeal motions within four days after Mrs. Holt's conviction Monday afternoon of poisoning her husband, Jesse, extended the period of grace when counsel indicated unpreparedness.

The jurist also order a transcript of the trial to be made and a copy given to J. I. Hook, Mrs. Holt's chief counsel. Hook contended a formal petition for a new trial cannot be properly drawn up without the official record of the proceedings.

The statuesque former Oklahoma farm girl, first woman to be convicted of first degree murder in Greene county, meanwhile, was lodged in the county jail to await a mandatory life imprisonment sentence. She escaped the electric chair upon the recommendation for mercy made to the court by the jury.

Mrs. Holt was found guilty of methodically poisoning her husband, a tractor operator on the "Big Inch" pipeline, by feeding him arsenic in small doses over a period of several months. The prosecution charged she was angered over Holt's alleged philanderings in Waynesburg taverns with other women.

MISSIONARY UNION PLANS COMMUNITY DAY

Executive committee of the New Castle Women's Missionary Union met in the home of Mrs. J. N. Kerr, Lincoln avenue, last evening to plan a world community day—on November 11, Armistice Day.

On October 14, the president or substitute leader of every missionary society of New Castle is asked to attend this special meeting at the Y. W. C. A. at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. On this date, plans will be completed for this special Armistice Day observance.

Congress Adds Billions To Cost For Dependents

Schedule Of Family Allowances For Service Men Is Boosted

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Congress "bid up" the schedule of family allowance for enlisted men today to an estimated annual cost of three and a half billion dollars.

House and Senate proposals for increased monthly payments to fighting men's dependents — described as a "race" by some members—virtually assured adoption of an allowance rate higher than heretofore contemplated.

The swing toward a comfortable boost in payments was strengthened by Senate approval of a rate giving the wife and one child of a serviceman $80 a month, with $20 for each additional child. It came as the House military affairs committee prepared to report its own allowance bill with benefits promised to be at least $90 a month for a wife and two children; and possibly higher.

Rep. Costello (D) Calif., a member of the House committee, estimated that allowances to the 500,000 fathers the armed forces plan to draft by January 1 would cost about fifty million dollars a month —or around six hundred million a year.

As of August, the services were paying out 228 million dollars a month, or about $2,736,000,000 a year. Senate estimates on the added cost of a "moderate" allowance bill passed in that body and now under House consideration came to 394 million dollars annually.

Present law gives the wife of an enlisted man $50 a month, with $12 for the first child and $10 for each additional offspring. The schedule approved by the House Military Affairs subcommittee headed by Rep. Sparkman provides $50 for a wife, $22 for the first child, $18 for the second and $16 for each additional child.

The "peak" proposal is contained in the Sadowski bill, sponsored by the C.I.O., which calls for $55 for a wife, $35 for the first child and $30 for each additional child.

AIR POLICE CORPS

(International News Service)

LONDON—Something reminiscent of pre-war dreams of what flying would soon be like was inaugurated here today—an "Air Police Corps"—but the purpose was strictly wartime. Young pilots in training, and veteran pilots in enthusiasm, who fly too low over the crowded British countryside were stated to be the reason for the organization. Purpose will be, officially: "to bring dangerous flyers to justice" because there have been several civilian casualties and property damage from low-flying planes crashing.

Correct this sentence: "The intention of Congress was clear," said the official, "and I dare not disregard it."

Day Of Atonement At Tifereth Israel

Services Start Friday Evening For Yom Hakippurim Fast And Prayer Day

Day of Atonement, Yom Hakippurim, will be observed at the Tifereth Israel synagogue by prayer and fasting commencing Friday evening at sunset. This is the penitential season that has begun on the first day of the month, Tishri, and the season reaches its culmination on the tenth day, Day of Atonement.

This is a day of fasting and a day of rest. It is a day to be devoted only for prayer and supplication for making a supreme effort to throw away all sins and wipe out evil.

Services at the Tifereth Israel synagogue will start Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock, and these services are Kol Nidre services. Saturday morning services will commence at 7:30 o'clock and continue all day.

Special prayers will be read for the welfare of the government and for the people in these critical times. Memorial services will be conducted at 11 o'clock.

Rabbi Gilbert A. Elefant will preach the appropriate sermons. The day of prayer and fasting will come to a close on Saturday evening at seven o'clock.

GRASS FIRE

Second ward firemen were called to the corner of Sheridan avenue and North Mercer street at 5:14 P.M. Wednesday to extinguish a grass fire. Fire Chief James E. Thomas reported today.

With New Castle Afro-Americans

Sunshine kensington met Monday evening at the Y. W. C. A. center, Elm street, with Mrs. Gertrude Branch as hostess. After devotions, the evening was spent socially. Special guests were Mrs. Mary Davis and daughter, of Covington, Va., Mrs. Carrie Ferguson and Mrs. Naomi Munnerlyn. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Thomas, served refreshments.

The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Nina Gilmore at the Elm street "Y".

May Liberalize Divorce Laws

Question To Come Before House Of Deputies Of Episcopal Church

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Liberalization of divorce laws of the Episcopal Church of America was to come before the house of deputies of the 54th triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in Cleveland today.

The meeting yesterday resulted in the endorsement of labor unions and political action on the part of big industry to unite workers and make them conscious of the political strength of industry.

James B. Diggs of Tulsa, Okla., branded as "revolutionary" that section of the report which recommended equality for all without regard to race or color. He also criticized the report as substituting a false humanistic and social philosophy for Christ.

Rev. J. Lindsay Patton, Berkeley Cal., defended the report by stating that it asked an "equality of opportunity" for Negroes, which heretofore "has been denied to all but exceptional members of the race."

The house of deputies also concurred in the resolutions of the house of bishops calling for eventual unity with the Presbyterian church in the United States.

Awaiting further clarification by the house of bishops and concurrence by the house of deputies, was a motion to raise the retirement age of the presiding bishop from 68 to 70, and to set retirement age of bishops at 72.

NEW WARTIME GLASS USED FOR CAMOUFLAGE

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O.—Glass used to conceal rather than reveal is the wartime purpose of the Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp.

Glass fibers, thinner than human hair, are spread over chicken wire and painted the color of the landscape; repainted with the seasons.

Fiberglass is light in weight, unaffected by water, fresh or salt, is non-inflammable, fine, and will not rot.

The nets, though light in weight, must be strong enough to bear the weight of ice and snow.

Since the success of the camouflage nets rests on openings left in the varnish, they cannot be put on a solid surface, but must be supported by a framework.

Reverence for God

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

"God is a spirit: and they that worship Him must worship in spirit and truth."—John 4:24.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for October 10 is Exodus 20:3-7; Matthew 4:10; 6:9; John 4:23, 24, the Golden Text being John 4:24, "God is a Spirit; and they that worship Him must worship in spirit and truth.")

Reverence for God is the subject of today's lesson. Reverence for He who made us and every living thing on the earth or anywhere in the universe.

The first three commandments, as given us in Exodus, come first of our Bible references. "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me."

Next, "Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth."

It is difficult for us to think of bowing down before a golden calf or any idol like that. But the idols we bow down before, very often, are ourselves, or our desires, or some one or something we love very much and feel we cannot live without. These, too, are idols against which we are warned. God should come first. The parents' attitude toward their Maker usually is reflected in their children's.

Temptation in the Wilderness

The reference in Matthew is to Jesus' temptation in the wilderness. The last temptation was when Satan took Him into a very high mountain and told Him that he would give Jesus all the world to be seen from the mount if He would bow down and worship Satan. Jesus answered him sternly, "Get thee hence, Satan, for it is written thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve."

The devil then knew himself to be beaten and left Him, and angels came and ministered unto Him.

Even when we pray we are not to ask first for those things we want, but to declare our reverence for the holiness of God, for Jesus instructed His followers that thus should they pray:

"After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven hallowed be Thy name."

The last reference is John 4, the 23rd and 24th verses.

"But the hour cometh and now is, when the true worshipers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship Him.

"God is a spirit: and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth."

Do you remember under what circumstances Jesus spoke those words? Most of we older persons have a very clear picture of the well in Samaria and Jesus asking the woman of the country for a drink of water from it.

The woman was surprised that a Jew should ask her for a drink, as usually the Jews had nothing to do with the people of that part of the country. Jesus answered that if she knew who it was who was asking her for a drink, she would have asked of Him and He would have given her living water.

Didn't Understand

The woman didn't understand and asked Jesus how He could draw water from the well with nothing in which to draw it, and Jesus told her that whosoever drank of earthly water would be thirsty again, but whosoever should drink of the spiritual refreshment which He could give would never be thirsty again.

When Jesus seemed to know all about her private life (which had not been virtuous) the woman changed the subject, with a compliment ("Sir, I perceive that Thou are a prophet") saying, "Our fathers worshiped in this mountain; and ye say that in Jerusalem is the place where men ought to worship."

Jesus' answer, "Believe Me, the hour cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountain, nor yet at Jerusalem, worship the Father. . . . But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshipers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth."

Not in the mountain only, or even in the church, but everywhere and all through our lives, we will worship the Father and render all reverence to Him.

Sheep Men To Have Field Day

Mercer County Organization Backing Field Day At Mercer Fair Grounds

Mercer County Sheep and Wool Growers Association is having its annual Field Day at the Mercer Fair Grounds, Saturday, starting at 10 a. m., which event is expected to attract many sheep men from Lawrence county, who annually participate in the event.

There will be an auction sale of ewes, while a number of pure bred rams will be placed on sale privately. Speakers will include W. B. Connell, extension representative of the Department of Animal Husbandry; Prof. F. L. Bentley, head of the Department of Animal Husbandry; and P. J. Reynolds, of the Producers Co-operative Livestock Association of Pittsburgh.

ENLISTS IN NAVY

Robert D. Gettings, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Gettings of R. F. D. No. 1, Ellwood City road, enlisted in the U. S. navy at the Pittsburgh recruiting station this week, and has left for Great Lakes naval training station to begin his boot training.

Retailers Name State Officers

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7.—(INS)—George P. Gable, of Altoona, president of the William F. Gable Company, was elected president of the Pennsylvania Retailers Association today at its annual meeting in Harrisburg.

He succeeds William H. Hagger, Lancaster department store owner, who served as president of the association continuously since its organization in 1932. Hagger was named honorary president.

Others elected were:

First vice president, S. H. Heckman, head of the Penn Traffic Company, Johnstown; second vice president, W. H. Burchfield, president of the Joseph Horne Company, Pittsburgh; third vice president, George L. Stearns, 2nd, Williamsport; secretary-treasurer, John E. Means, Lancaster (incumbent).

In addition, the following directors were elected: F. Royce Bush, of Bush & Bull, Bethlehem; George C. Dodge, of Croll & Keek, Reading; and Bernard Brown, of Lit Brothers, Philadelphia.

The Dorcas Missionary group of Mahoning will meet Tuesday evening with Mrs. Lucille Meehan.

Mrs. Margaret Callander of New Bedford spent the latter part of the week with her niece, Mrs. Harry Kretzer.

Mrs. Earl Cover of Poland, O., visited her aunt, Mrs. F. A. Montgomery, Friday and assisted making apple butter.

Emma Grace Kuhn underwent an operation on her ear at the Jameson hospital Saturday, but was able to return home.

Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Shephard and children, Jimmie and Paul, went to Kenton, O., for a two weeks vacation at her home.

Rev. H. C. McAuley of Brownlee-Woods and daughter, Mrs. Willis McGill, and son, were recent callers of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gilkey of West Middlesex attended church at Mahoning Sunday and were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Korby.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Googe, formerly Miss Pearl Jacobson, who were recently married, are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Googe for the present.

Pfc. Clarence P. Steese of Camp Breckenridge, Ky., who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Steese of Volant and in the Kretzer home, concluded his furlough last week.

Mrs. Pearl Jacobson Googe was honored at a party by the young ladies in the Sunday school class of which she is a member at Mahoning. It was held at the home of the Munn girls. Games were enjoyed and dainty refreshments served. The honor guest was presented a floor lamp.

Apple Tree Goes All-Out For Victory

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS—An apple tree in an Overland, Mo., garden is going all-out for victory.

In addition to fruit in the usual places, apples are growing in clusters along the trunk and major branches of the tree on stems that average an inch or less in length.

"Very uncommon," said George H. Pring, superintendent of the Missouri Botanical Garden, but he added that the phenomenon has been reported before. He explained that they grow from "adventitious buds similar to shoots which pop out of the trunks of maple trees."

Mrs. Enoch Jordan, in whose yard the tree grows, said all the fruit on the tree is of equal quality, suitable only for cooking.

It is not known whether the tree has borne similarly before.

Ministers Assert Needed Pay Boosts Being Sidetracked

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Delegates to the annual Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist church today considered the pleas of many ministers who feel needed wartime pay raises for themselves are being sidetracked for improvements on church buildings.

The Rev. Nicholas F. Richards, superintendent of the McKeesport district, declared in his general report:

"Many pastors feel their boards go over the top for building improvements but do not grant adequate increases in pay to the ministers."

The report said 17 Methodist pastors of the conference have become chaplains in the armed forces.

The dirigible R-34, which made the first successful transatlantic flight, was built by Great Britain. The round-trip flight was made in 1919 with Maj. G. H. Scott in command of the ship.

PREVENT FIRES TO SAVE LIFE AND PROPERTY LOSS

This is "fire prevention week". Farm fires annually cause the loss of thousands of lives and cost approximately $100,000,000 per year in this country.

Since fire fighting equipment is not readily available for most farms and every fire once started usually results in a serious loss, every farm family should remove all possible fire hazards during "fire prevention week", and should see that these hazards are kept away thruout the year.

A list of the common hazards and a suggested prevention in checking them may be be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

STORE VEGETABLES TO PROLONG USE PERIOD

Home gardeners can extend the supply of vegetables and time of using them through the winter by careful storage. This results in a saving of money, more variety in the diet, and a better supply of food for the family.

For use during the seven non-growing months, a farm family of five persons could easily store the following amounts of vegetables: Greens: cabbage, 150 pounds of 50 heads; celery or endive, 50 stalks; kale, left in the garden, 25 plants. Root crops: beets, 2 bushels; carrots,2 bushels; rutabagas or turnips, 40 to 45 pounds; parsnips or salsify, a half bushel; onions, 1 1-4 bushels. Winter squash and pumpkins: 75 to 100 pounds. Dried beans and peas: 25 pounds. Potatoes: 25 bushels.

Root crops, cabbage and potatoes may be stored at home in a barrel pit, placed in a horizontal position in the side of a bank, or in a slanting or vertical position on level, well-drained soil. A barrel, heavy box, discarded terra cotta pipe, or similar materials may be used in building this pit. A tightly fitting cover should be provided to keep out rodents. A layer of straw or leaves, 12 inches thick, is placed over the pit and on top of this a layer of soil or discarded waterproof material, such as roofing or building paper. As severe weather approaches, a second layer of straw, or leaves is placed on the pit and covered. Potatoes may be stored in this manner if extra care is exercised to prevent chilling at temperatures below 38 degrees.

Small amounts of root crops may be stored in a cold room if placed in a crock, discarded lard, milk or other can and covered to prevent loss of moisture. Celery, endive and cabbage may be placed in similar containers or a tub, with the roots placed in moist soil and left uncovered.

If desired, a trench about eight inches wide may be used to store root crops and such plants as cabbage and celery with the roots attached. Just before freezing weather arrives, the vegetables are placed in the trench and covered with boards or paper and a layer of dry straw or leaves eight to 12 inches thick. A waterproof material is used to cover this dry layer of insulating material, or soil may be used as the final cover, if boards are first placed over the trench for support.

A well-ventilated room in the cellar, insulated from the furnace, is a convenient place to store vegetables for family use. The room may be divided, one section having a moist dirt floor and the other a dry board or concrete floor. One large window or door in each section is required for adequate ventilation. The north side of the building is the preferred location. The walls and door separating the storeroom from the rest of the cellar must be tight. A doublt wall, with a layer of building paper and dry insulating material, provides adequate insulation.

GROW SMALL FRUITS IN GARDEN FOR HOME USE

Because food is an important item in present living costs and the commercial fruit crops for 1943 are lower than the five-year average, many individuals are planning to plant some fruit in 1944 to supply a portion of the family needs.

Since food scarcity is of immediate concern, it is suggested that the planting of small fruits, such as strawberries, raspberries, currants and grapes, offer more possibility of providing fruit for home use than the planting of tree fruits which take a longer time to come into production.

Extension fruit specialists of the Pennsylvania State college say that home gardeners planning to make small fruit plantings next spring should start preparation of the location at this time. Success with small fruit depends upon early planting of sound nursery stock in 1944. The first step in preparation is to give the chosen location a liberal application of stable manure and plow it under this fall.

Fall planting is not recommended, and it must be remembered that plantings made in 1944 will not result in crops until 1945 or later. Strawberries will yield their best crop the year after the plants are set, raspberries come along in two years, while currants and grapes require an additional year.

CONTROL WEEVILS TO SAVE BEANS AND PEAS

Development of bean weevils may start in the field or in storage and will continue even in the dried beans. Pea weevils start only in the field and their development ceases when the peas become mature. The most suitable control is obtained after the seeds are harvested and placed in storage.

Beans and peas for storage should be shelled as soon as possible after harvest. As soon as they are dry, the seeds should be placed in a tight container for fumigation. Carbon bisulfide is used for fumigation at the rate of a half teacupful to a bushel of seed.

The liquid may be poured over the beans or it may be placed in a shallow tin set on top of them. The container must be airtight; otherwise, the fumigation will not be effective. Carbon bisulfide will not injure the beans for cooking purposes or for seed.

The fumigation should last for 24 to 48 hours, after which the container should be opened and the beans thoroughly aired. They then should be stored in tightly closed sacks or other tight containers in a cool place.

Since carbon bisulfide is very inflammable and explosive, it should be kept away from lights and fires of all kinds.

Small quantities of beans or peas may be treated for weevils by putting them in a bag and immersing them in cold water, then heating the water to 140 degrees. The seeds should be dried immediately after treatment.

Another way is to heat them while dry for three or four hours at 135 degrees. The heat must reach the center of the mass to make the treatment effective. Heat-treated beans or peas should not be used for seed, although it is claimed the heat treating will not injure them for germination.

Small lots of seed may be protected over winter from weevils by mixing the seeds with hydrated lime at the rate of one pound of lime to two pounds of beans. Beans so protected may be used for food after washing. The proportion of the dust for larger lots is one to four.

AGED CREAM MAKES BEST WHIPPED PRODUCT

Age, percentage of fat, and temperature at which cream is stored affect its whipping qualities.

It usually requires a longer period of time to whip an unaged cream than an aged cream. Cream that is kept at least 48 hours before whipping gives the best results, but during this aging period the cream should be kept where the temperature is 45 degrees Fahrenheit or lower.

As the fat content of cream increases, the less time it takes to whip and the better the product. However, government regulations now prohibit the sale of cream that contains more than 19 per cent butterfat.

Temperature is important in whipping cream. For low butterfat content cream, best results are obtained if cream is whipped at a temperature not higher than 45 degrees, according to extension dairy specialists of the Pennsylvania State college. This means that the person whipping the cream must be extra careful. Just before whipping the cream, chill the container and the beater by placing them in the refrigerator or ice water. This helps to keep the cream at the proper temperature for satisfactory whipping.

Flavoring extracts do not affect the stiffness of the whip nor the whipping quality of the cream. However, sugar added either before or after whipping will affect the whip, the quality of the whip, and the time needed to whip. Add sugar after cream is whipped.

The standing up quality of whipped cream is important. When used as a garnish cream should retain its shape and firmness.

FADED FABRIC MAY BE SUCCESSFULLY REDYED

Before making over a garment, it may be advisable to dye the fabric. The present color may be faded or it not suited to the coloring of the individual.

Wool combines with dye more readily than the other fibers. Some rayons take the dye quickly while others, especially the acetate rayons, require a special dye.

There are several types of household dye, all similar in their use. Many of these will dye more than one fiber, but be sure to choose the dye that is suited to the material you have.

Common mistakes in dyeing are the use of too small a utensil and the failure to follow directions carefully, report extension clothing specialists of the Pennsylvania State college. Because the thread, fabric, and trimming may be of different fibers, dyeing may result in several shades of the same color. If possible, first try the dye on a small piece of the fabric.

The material to be dyed must be clean. It often it advisable to rip the garment so the dye will penetrate more evenly. Remove all buttons and buckles.

In planning to change the color of a fabric, consider the following:

1. Fabric may be dyed a darker shade of the same color or a darker color, but never a lighter one unless the original color is first removed.

2. Light tints, such as pale pink, blue, or gray, can be treated as white and dyed any darker color.

3. The brightness of the original color will affect the resulting color.

4. Tan or gray colored material dyed another color will be a softer duller shade than indicated on the dye chart because tan and gray neutralize color.

5. Sometimes it is advisable to first remove the original color, then redye. Directions for bleaching are given on the package containing the bleach.

6. Fast colors can be obtained only by boiling the dye bath-tinting refers to cold water dyeing and is not fast.

Maple Leaf Attack Bad Omen For Japs

Air Force On Kiska Takes Part In War Of Nerves, Corporal's Letter Tells

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7.—(INS)—A member of the air forces on Kiska disclosed Wednesday that the Japs were bombarded with fake maple leaves as well as bombs.

In a letter to Joseph T. Dougherty, of Harrisburg, Corp. Joseph M. Lavelle, of Scranton, revealed that the maple leaf attack was part of a war of nerves against the sons of heaven who believed that it was a bad omen when they fell in summer.

Lavelle sent Dougherty one of the leaves, which looked real although made of paper. They were colored and shaped like maple leaves. On each side, in rectanguiar boxes bordered with bright green, was a message in Japanese.

Lavelle did not include a literal translation of the Jap characters in his letter, but said they meant in essence "to get out while the getting is good."

"And I guess that is just what they did," he added.

American and Canadian troops occupied the Japanese-held island in the Aleutians after the enemy had fled.

The letter was written Sept. 23. The air forces writer said he had lived in a tent on Kiska until two weeks previous, when the men were assigned to huts.

DR. GALBREATH GIVES ADDRESS

Need For God In Post-War World Expressed By Westminster College Head

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster college, delivered an interesting and timely address before the New Castle Kiwanis club, Wednesday noon, at their weekly luncheon meeting in The Castleton. He spoke on the subject, "Can We Build a Better America Without God?"

Dr. Galbreath stated that in his experiences in the last war, and the expressions that have come from the men at the front in this war, the men who are doing the fighting to save this country for democracy have shown they are interested in God and want to know him better, and told of the soldier who said that getting up to the front line makes Christians out of men fast.

He said that he felt that there would be a great moral and spiritual revival following the war, which may save us from making the wrong kind of peace. He said that we do not need a new code, or great wisdom on the part of our statesmen, but a universal consciousness of God to bring about a peace that would be satisfactory to the whole world.

The regular meeting of the club will be dispensed with next Wednesday in order that the members may meet with the Rotary and other clubs at a joint meeting Monday when Din Bate, famous lecturer and writer will be the speaker.

War Worker Children Delinquency Menace

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Delinquency is a constant menace to children who are "part-time orphans" because their parents work in war plants, the 32nd National Safety Congress in Chicago was told Wednesday.

Beth Muller, Field Consultant for the U. S. Children's Bureau, estimated that up to 1,700,000 women with children will have taken jobs by the end of 1943 and 3,000,000 children may have been "orphaned" for part of the day or night.

Describing the delinquency danger, Miss Muller said:

"Gangs of the wrong kind spring up in which undesirable associations are cultivated. Boys and girls frequent pool rooms, railroad and bus stations and go to unsupervised parks and playgrounds at night.

"Sex irregularities and exploitation can too easily occur. Children seek illegal employment for which they are neither equipped nor physically strong enough."

Miss Muller declared it was "the nation's responsibility to see that every child is provided the care he needs."

SCRAP DRIVE AID ASKED IN STATE

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7.—(INS)—More than 400,000 air raid protection volunteers have been asked to aid local salvage committees collect 250,000 tons of scrap metal by November 15.

Dr. Ralph C. Hutchison, executive director of the State Defense Council, said that a quarter-million tons has been fixed as Pennsylvania's quota in the national scrap drive and the volunteers were asked to cooperate because of the manpower shortage. He specifically invited 431,000 air raid wardens, auxiliary police and firemen, fire guards and messengers to participate in the campaign which opened October 1.

The Shakers are said to have been the first people in America to raise, prepare and vend garden seeds in the modern style, and they invented kilns for drying sweet corn.

Soldiers On Lam Fatally Wounded

Two Of Eight Who Escape From Camp Bowie Guardhouse Killed Resisting Arrest

BRENHAM, Tex., Oct. 7.—(INS)—Two soldiers, who escaped from the guard house at Camp Bowie, Brownwood, were fatally wounded by a deputy sheriff in Brenham early Wednesday when they resisted arrest.

The men were identified as John Hagerman of Terre Haute, Ind., and W. H. Parsons of Los Angeles. They broke out of the Camp Bowie guard house Monday with six other prisoners, all of whom have been captured.

Notified that Hagerman and Parsons were enroute to Brenham in a stolen car, Deputy Sheriff Walter Schoenemann and Policeman Louis H. Landau spotted the two outside the city and after a chase curbed their car.

Enroute to the city jail in the police car, one of the soldiers grabbed the deputy while the other stuck a gun into Landau's back. The deputy, however, managed to free himself and draw his gun. He fatally wounded both soldiers.

Superiority In Air Is Certain

American Aircraft Production Schedules And Improvements Guarantee Edge

NEW TURRET GIVES MORE FIRE POWER

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—American aircraft production schedules and improvements being made in planes under construction today virtually assures the Allies continued air superiority over the Axis in both quality and quantity.

Best recent example of U. S. engineering skill under wartime stress was the disclosure that a new power-operated "chin" turret has been added to the flying fortress to give it increased fire power.

The new turret is located beneath the transparent nose of the flying fortress and gives the forward gunner an edge over enemy planes that attack head on.

Other improvements in both fighters and bombers also have been made or are being made, but they must remain in the secret category until military intelligence decides disclosure would not be of value to the enemy.

Another indication that numerous changes are being made in U. S planes now under construction is the fact that production schedules are not as high as they could be numerically, yet the total weight produced has increased steadily. This undoubtedly means larger planes with more armament and armor.

Still "under wraps" so far as the public is concerned are the superbombers mentioned during the past few months by Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces. Arnold's sketchy description of the new type told only that it would be much larger than the flying fortress or Liberator and that its fire power would be terrific.

SHIFT MANAGEMENT

DETROIT, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Capt. D. H. Hanlon of Navy Ordnance today had announced that management of the $60,000,000 Naval Ordnance plant in Centerline, Mich. will be shifted from the Hudson Motor Co. in Detroit to the Pittsburgh plant of Westinghouse Electric "for the best interest of the government."

The shift is effective October 28, he said.

Capt. Hanlon flew from Washington with the order which was signed by Rear Admiral W. P. H. Blandy, chief of the Navy Bureau of Ordnance.

Camp Reynolds Doubles Quota In Third War Loan

(Special To The News)

GREENVILLE, Oct. 7.—Camp Reynolds oversubscribed the quota it set for itself in the Third War Loan drive.

"We more than doubled our quota of fifty thousand dollars," stated Lt. Nicholas Titangos, insurance and war bonds officer, when releasing the final figures. Combined military and civilian personnel of Camp Reynolds purchased $108,471.25 worth of bonds since the beginning of the drive.

This total represents the purchase price of the bonds bought, not their maturity value. Every one of these bonds were bought for cash. In analyzing the returns, military personel purchased $88,191.75 worth of bonds and civilian personnel $20,279.50. The face value of these bonds represents over 135 thousand dollars.

Leading purchasers were Captain Maxcie O. Brock, Captain Herman Goldberg and Lt. Douglas Harold. The station hospital was the organization to make the greatest showing, with approximately twenty thousand dollars invested.

GREATEST HAZARDS TO STREET CAR MEN

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(INS)—The three greatest hazards with which a street car motorman is faced are presented by children, elderly persons—and drunks.

This was the estimate offered today by R. F. Mauger of the Accident Prevention Bureau of the Philadelphia Transportation Company. Speaking before the transit section of the National Safety Congress, Mauger said of the motorman:

"He must be a model of patience, slow to anger, and never a victim of haste."

ABSENTEEISM CONTINUES

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The rate for absenteeism in important war industries continued at about the same level in June as in previous months, Secretary of Labor Perkins reports.

EDENBURG

Mrs. Joseph Park of the Edenburg-Hillsville road is spending the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rape of Pittston.

Mrs. Roy Gibson of the Edenburg-Hillsville road was a Monday caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson of New Castle.

The executive committee of the Woman's Society of Christian service of the Methodist church met at the home of the president, Monday evening to discuss activities for the remainder of the year.

Members and friends gathered at the Methodist church Wednesday evening to welcome Rev. Everett Spring who has returned to the Edenburg and Hillsville Methodist churches for another year. A program of songs and readings were enjoyed and later a committee of ladies of the church served refreshments. Rev. Spring was presented with a gift to express the high esteem of the congregation.

Agnar Swanson of New Castle was a Wednesday evening dinner guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Usselton.

Correct Quarterly Social Security Tax Return Urged

Accurate Reports Prevent Check-Backs And Save Employers Time, Expense, Is Advice

As the time for filing another quarterly social security tax return approaches, A. L. Fath, manager of the New Castle Social Security board office, reminds employers to make certain they report each employeee's name and social security number correctly. In this way, he said, they will save the time and expense of later having to check back on their pay-roll records to correct any errors.

Mr. Fath states that practically all employers have now learned the importance of reporting correctly their employees' account numbers and names as well as their wages. But occasionally, he said, an employee's account number will be missing from an employer's report or the number will slightly incorrect, or the employee's name will be spelled wrong. "In these cases," he said, "we must ask the employer to check back on his records and supply the correct information." Such check-backs are a waste of time and expensive for him.

According to law the employer is responsible for maintaining a record of the employee's name, account number and wages and for reporting these correctly to the government, Mr. Fath points out. The next quarterly social security tax return covering July, August and September is due on or before October 31, 1943.

Says Chinese Will Clean Japs Out

(International News Service)

MOBILE, Ala. — "We clean Japs out," declared Pvt. Foong Sing Ng, of Brookley Field, when he was asked what he intended to do after the war.

"Japs no good," he insisted in his broken English.

Master Sergt. George Arthur, a veteran of service in China, called Foong "a good and reliable worker."

Foong came to this country in 1921 and left his wife and family in China. He sends them money regularly but he is awaiting the day when they can all get together. Now, at 43, he is a grandfather.

The Chinese-American worked in Alameda, Cal., and then moved to Oakland where he had a shoe repair shop. He supports his mother and younger brother, both of whom still live in Alameda.

He estimated his weekly expenses at between 10 and 25 cents—less than a dollar out of the $50 he draws each month.

"China be okay again," he concluded, "when the Japs are run out."

DONATES BLOND TRESSES FOR U. S. BOMB SIGHTS

(International News Service)

FORTORIA, O. — Thirteen years ago, Mrs. G. L. Snyder of Fortoria, following the trend for bobbed hair, had her blonde tresses cut off but kept them in a cardboard box in her dresser drawer.

Today she is the proud possesor of a certificate of recognition from the Bendix Aviation Corp., in Baltimore, Md. An accompanying letter states that a sample of the hair she submitted to the corporation has been found suitable for use in the manufacture of bomb sights.

Hair with these particular specifications is worth $2.50 per ounce, which is donated to the USO and American Red Cross. Mrs. Snyder's hair measured 31 inches in length and weighed four ounces.

Blonde, straight hair untouched by chemicals, hot irons or waving machines is used by bomb sight makers.

DOCTOR SAVES WOMAN SCALPED BY MACHINE

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS. — A surgeon's skillful hands have saved the life of Mrs. Lola Thomlinson.

Mrs. Thomlinson was critically injured when he hair caught in a machine at a seat cover company in St. Louis where she was employed. Her scalp was torn off.

In an unusual operation, requiring four hours, the scalp was replaced and today Mrs. Thomlinson is on the road to recovery.

The surgeon said the scalp operation was in the nature of a skin graft. During the operation it was necessary to roll the patient slowly over on the operating table as stitches were taken around the head.

QUEEN MARY AT ANCHOR AFTER DASH WITH TROOPS

PAINTED A DRAB WAR GRAY, the 81,235-ton liner Queen Mary is shown some months back in Table Bay, Capetown, South Africa, after a record run across the Atlantic with American troops. The photo, which was just released by the British government, was taken at the completion of a 12-day trip. The previous mark had been 19 days. The huge ship was reported to have run through a pack of 24 Nazi subs. (International)

SALVAGE JAP PLANE PARTS AFTER CAPTURE OF LAE

AFTER THE JAPS had been driven from Lae, New Guinea, by hard-fighting American and Australian troops, Allied plane mechanics moved in on the airfield and began to salvage parts of Jap craft that had been blasted by bombers. The men are shown with some of the shattered enemy planes that had been wrecked before they could take off. Capture of Lae imperils the Jap base at Finschhafen. (International)

FIRST PHOTO OF FRENCH TROOPS ON CORSICA

FULLY EQUIPPED FRENCH TROOPS are shown going ashore at D'Ajaccio, on the island of Corsica. These soldiers joined with local guerilla units, which included Corsican patriots and some Italians, in liberating the French Mediterranean island from the Nazis. Allied air and surface craft also joined in the battles against the German invaders. This is an official U. S. Army Signal Corps Radiophoto. (International)

—and I like to have people say so. I know they mean it the RIGHT way . . . that I don't cost much.

As your electric home servant, I'm still working at the same wages I got before the war . . . and these were the lowest wages I ever received in my life.

That's why I'm proud to be called "cheap."

Have you ever stopped to figure up how much work I'll do for you for a dollar? Or even a penny? For lighting, cooking, refrigeration, washing, ironing, or dozens of other jobs? Do it sometime — and then compare the value received with anything else you can buy for the same money.

Cheap? You bet. And glad of it.

3 Gales In One Family Prove Too Confusing

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS. — Three Gales in one family were too confusing for the mother, so now there are two Gales and a Storm.

Mrs. Gale Bullman, a former St. Louisan whose Christian name is Gale, as is her husband's, applied at the Bureau of Vital Statistics in St. Louis to have the Christian name of their daughter, Gale, changed to Storm. Her request was granted.

The registrar at the bureau said that he was watching his barometer to see if the change were noticeable.

SURE WAY TO CURE CAMP SNAKE BITES

(International News Service)

CAMP POLK, La.—St. Patrick has come to Camp Polk in the form of the 56th armored engineer battalion which has taken up snake hunting to cut down on snake bites in the camp. After Lieut. Edmund J. Virusky of Washington, Pa., and Lieut. Richard C. Shannon of Milwaukee, Wis., asked snake enthusiasts to bring in the reptiles alive, division surgeon Col. Oliver W. Greer ordered the display exhibited throughout the 11th armored division. Started shortly after the unit was activated, the "museum" contained virtually every type of native snake from a six-foot water moccasin to a pygmy rattlesnake only a few inches long. "We haven't had a single case of snake bite in all that time," declared Staff Sgt. L. P. Belmont fo Hill City, S. D., "curator" of the collection. As snakes do not live long in captivity, they are placed in alcohol-filled jars when they die so they can still be used, along with charts, for exhibition purposes.

A REAL PATRIOT

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND—Despite the loss of an arm, William H. White, an expeditor at the Fisher Body bomber plant, not only holds down his full-time war job but runs a 54-acre farm. His farm chores include care of two cows, two hroses and 150 chickens and he does all the planting, plowing and harvesting without help.

TRENTON, N. J. — No one appreciates the work Leo Weiger did before he enlisted in the Navy as much as Leo Weiger.

Leo was almost exhausted from hours of swimming in the Mediterranean after his ship was sunk in the invasion of North Africa, when a friendly hand hauled him aboard a life raft.

The float, he discovered, was one of balsa wood which he had been helping to manufacture a few months before at the Winner Manufacturing Co., in Trenton.

"When I discovered that, I felt as safe as though I was on an ocean liner," he told his former fellow-employes recently.

The rectangular float, which has a basket-like platform, is big enough to accommodate 25 to 60 men. The suspended platform enables the occupants to stand and rest against the top of the craft.

The lung consists of very thin membrane with air on one side and blood on the other.

WORKERS HELP CUT STAFF

(International News Service)

CAMP SHELBY, Miss.—Civilian workers have been reduced 15 per cent at Camp Shelby, according to a report made by public relations officers. Officials credited the workers themselves with making the reduction by simplifying office procedure. The cut means savings in payrolls as well as making possible releasing of competent personnel to other war agencies in urgent need, officials asserted.

CAPTAIN KETLER TRIES BAGPIPE

Grove City College Man Goes Musical While With U. S. Marines In Guadalcanal

(The following story was written by Staff Sergeant Samuel Shaffer a Marine Corps combat correspondent.)

Somewhere in the Southwest Pacific — (Delayed) — Into the life of every man there comes at least once an overwhelming desire to yield to an impulse utterly divorced from reason.

Among those rare souls who have yielded with untrammeled conscience may be included Captain George C. Ketler, USMC, 25, of Grove City, Pennsylvania, who recently purchased a set of Scottish bagpipes and now spends every spare moment in an effort to master the instrument which still holds the upper hand.

Captain Ketler, who has always had a passionate interest in Scottish history and customs, first conceived of the idea of possessing bagpipes while lying in a waterlogged foxhole during an air raid on Guadalcanal.

"I admit," he said, "that there's no logical connection between an uncomfortable foxhole and the desire to play the bagpipes. But then, there's nothing logical about wanting to play the bagpipes."

To the acute distress of his more-than-tolerant tentmates, Captain Ketler practices at least one hour daily and spends an equal amount of time recovering his wind and relaxing his cheek muscles, which have taken considerable punishment.

Bagpipes have a range of nine notes, and sharps and flats are conspicuously absent. To fill this lack the player produces what are known as grace notes by the rapid playing of adjacent tones. To the accomplished player this feat is simple; to the tyro it is difficult and to his unwilling audience, nothing less than tortuous. That is why Captain Ketler's friends have dubbed his hobby: "How to Lose Friends and Alienate Fellow Officers."

Captain Ketler is a graduate of Grove City college, where he played on the varsity football and basketball teams. Following his graduation, he obtained a fellowship to the University of Indiana. In 1940 and 1941 he was employed as an accountant in the comptroller's office of the university.

While still an undergraduate he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve. He was called up on active duty in February, 1942, made a first lieutenant the following November and promoted to captain in June, 1943. During the battle of Guadalcanal he was the munitions officer of his regiment.

Captain Ketler is married to the former Miss Alice Bryant of Grove City and is the father of two boys, George Weir, 2, and James Alan, four months old. He has never seen the baby.

"I am callous to the unkind remarks of my ten mates who are deaf to the beauties of bagpipe playing," he said, "but I wonder how my youngsters will take it."

Captain Ketler, however, has made one concession to his fellow officers. He won't pipe the regiment into battle in the next campaign.

TWO ENLIST IN NAVY

Marines Need Aviation Women

Women Of Marine's Reserve Are Taking Places Of Men In Many Branches

Fifty per cent of the women serving in the honored ranks of the Marine Corps Women's Reserve are needed for some phase of aviation. Although no actual flying is done, there are countless other jobs that the women are taking over and in doing so, freeing men for active service. They are taking over positions in weather charting, control tower work, link trainer, communications, aviation machinist mates, plus many other important fields that come under the classification of general aviation duty. Then there are also the many clerical positions so necessary to maintain an airport, that can and are being admirably filled by our women of the Women's Reserve.

Through her work on an airport, every woman is freeing a man for that overseas duty in which he has been so thoroughly trained, every woman is releasing a man sorely needed in combat areas.

"The satisfaction of knowing that you are an integral part of one of the mightiest forces of the war is a great one. The thrill of working side by side with the 'Flying Devil Dogs' is hard to compare. If you are between the ages of 20 and 36 why not see if you can be a marine —free a marine to fight?" is the plea of Sgt. Kay Vincenc, marine recruiter now on duty here.

The generals at the front aren't blue one day and jubilant the next. They don't hear the commentators.

Fathers should have enough foresight to budget their savings to care for their children.

Court Decision In Membership Rules For A.P.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(INS)—The membership rules of the Associated Press were held to be in violation of the anti-trust laws today, after a decision by the U. S. district court for the southern district of New York, released late yesterday.

The federal government had prosecuted the AP for violation of the anti-trust laws on a number of counts. The right of AP members to pass upon applicants to the co-operative news-gathering organizations was upheld. The decision directed the AP to change its by-laws to prevent a newspaper in the same field—morning, evening or Sunday in the same city—from obstructing the election of a member in the same field.

The decision was not unanimous. Of the three-man court, Judges Learned Hand and Augustus Hand concurred, with Judge Thomas W. Swan dissenting.

Insect pests in the United States eat food crops valued at about $900,000,000 every year, with the corn-ear worm alone accounting for $104,000,000.

'Arts And Crafts' Institute Subject

Second Program For Young People's Group Leaders Tonight at Y.W.C.A.

For the second in a series of Four Leadership Institute programs this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. on "Arts and Crafts", instructors will be two graduate students from the school of applied social sciences of the University of Pittsburgh.

Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. boys department are cooperative sponsors of the institute.

This evening Miss Virginia Baker a graduate of Oberlin, who is now at the Child Guidance Center in Pittsburgh and whose specialty is arts and crafts, will lead the program. E. D. Hawk will be chairman.

Mrs. Harriet Gershenson, who was in charge of the latter part of the program a week ago, will be here again for a short review and practice with those who wish it.

Registration of the institute is still open to leaders of all young people's groups. Anyone interested in attending may register at the door. A knife, note book and pencil are the equipment needed.

AGONY FROM STOMACH GAS

Mr. Tony Main, Of 4708 Lorigan, Pittsburgh, Pa., Says He was Tortured By The Miseries Of Constipation, And Leg Pains; Felt Tired And Worn Out From Years Of Suffering—"Herba-Lex Has Done Wonders For Me."

MR. TONY MAIN

Statements such as Mr. Main's—telling of quick, surprising relief from digestive troubles by taking Herba-Lex—have been pouring in. Such statements are usual—not uncommon . . . because Herba-Lex is scientifically compounded to relieve faulty digestion and elimination and banish misery. Read what Mr. Main says:

"I Was Terribly Constipated"

"For years my strength was sapped by the torment of stomach agony due to gas and indigestion. And my condition was all the worse because I suffered too with pains in my legs, and I was terribly constipated. I felt I could hardly go on any longer—and then I was advised to try Herba-Lex. I am now on my third bottle and it has done wonders for me. I would not be without it at any price. My stomach misery, constipation and leg pains are gone, and now I feel fine—like a different person. I am 48 years old, and have been selling newspapers on the corner of Penn and Frankstown Ave. for the past 25 years. A lot of people know me, and I want to tell all my friends and customers to try Herba-Lex. It sure did miracles for me!"

Herba-Lex Is 18 Medicines

Herba-Lex is actually 18 medicines in one because it contains natural juices from 18 of Nature's herbs, roots and barks. Each ingredient is of benefit in toning up an out-of-order or rundown system.

The first effect of Herba-Lex is to stop gas pains, belching and to sweeten the stomach. Next, it goes pleasantly to work to clear away old, sour bile, intestinal impurities, and to relieve constipation. The flushing away of these gases and poisons from the liver, and stagnant wastes from the kidneys, results in the most blessed relief imaginable! You can then eat and enjoy food again. And you will look, feel and act different!

The HERBA-LEX Man is now at Pay Less Cut Rate. There he daily explains the virtues of this splendid medicine to scores of people. See and talk with him and tell him your troubles, and have him show you why Herba-Lex is giving such amazing relief to suffering men and women.

Borowy-Brazle Twirlers In Third Series Conflict

Mort Cooper's Win Electrifies 68,578; Yankees Rate Edge

Yanks' Ninth Inning Rally Falls Short; Homers By Marion And Sanders Decide Second Tilt; Cooper Boys Capture Heart Of Fandom With Spectacular Performance Under Most Trying Conditions

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 7.—Whether the St. Louis Cardinals are about to become a legendary team of destiny that will be remembered as the one that swept through two world series the hard way is a point that will be determined to some extent late this afternoon by a left-handed gent named Alpha Brazle.

Manager Billy Southworth of the Cards selected the Oklahoma rookie with the queer delivery to oppose Hank Borowy in this third game of the baseball classic with the New York Yankees and banked on him to make it a two games to one edge and keep the club going toward an encore of last season's triumph. That was when the Yanks took the opener, then blew four straight and this may be one of those history-repeating-itself episodes.

Homers Aid Cooper

The Yanks won the opener of this current series, too, but were tied at one-all yesterday, 4 to 3, by virtue of the home runs of Slats Marion and Ray Sanders, coupled with the courage and skill and savvy of Mort Cooper, who broke the American League's long-standing jinx over him under tragic circumstances.

He pitched a six-hitter and his brother, Walker, caught despite the ordeal of the thing, for only a few hours before the game they learned of their father's death back home in Missouri. Mort left last night to attend the funeral, but Walker stayed on to catch today's final game in New York and will move on to St. Louis with the two clubs tonight for resumption of the series on Sunday.

He pitched a much better game than you'll see from the box score, and with that won his game to even the tussle and put Brazle in a spot seldom filled by a rookie. He has been in the majors only since mid-summer, though 29 years old and a minor league star long before now.

Yanks Favored

This year as last, the Yankees were favored and won the first game, then on both occasions it was Ernie Bonham whom the Cards beat in the second game to even the series and each time by 4 to 3. He was Cooper's victim yesterday again.

Cooper's throwing in the pinches kept the Yanks from catching up after the home runs by Marion and Sanders had contributed to four Card runs. Cooper was at his very best in the Yankee ninth, when the remnants of the Bronx bombers started an uprising that was about to sweep the Cards out of the ball park. They trailed by 4 to 1 at the time.

Bill Johnson smacked a double into left center to open the final phase, and scored when Charley Keller hit a triple into the scrum vicinity. Bill Dickey cracked out on a line to second baseman Lou Klein for the first out when by mere inches he missed becoming the tying run on base. Keller scored on Nick Etten's infield out and Joe Gordon ended it all with a weak pop foul to Catcher Cooper.

JUNIOR HIGHS PLAYING TODAY

Two local junior high football teams are facing stiff opposition this afternoon.

Ben Franklin is battling Farrell junior high on the Mercer County gridiron and George Washington is entertaining Sharon on Washington high field.

Army authorities still sought today the pilot of the B-17 Flying Fortress which swooped three times over Yankee stadium on Tuesday during the first game of the world series.

Panthers Favorites To Top W. Virginia

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 7.—(INS)—The clawless Pitt Panthers discovered themselves in a slightly unorthodox position today. They are favored to whip West Virginia's Mountaineers Saturday at Pitt stadium.

Clark Shaughnessy's squad of 17-year-olds was further depleted, however, when Marty Rosepink, husky tackle who starred in the Notre Dame and Great Lakes debacles, joined the Navy. It is uncertain if he'll be around for this week-end's contest.

Union Underdog In Bessemer Tiff Friday Afternoon

Class B Race Conflict Starts At 3 O'Clock; Game On Bessemer Field

Bessemer high's T-minded grid force starts defending the 1942 Lawrence County Class B championship on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, battling Union Township high.

The red and black clad horde from the cement making community has been installed as a top heavy favorite due to a more impressive record than that hung up by the Scotland Laners.

Cops Two Victories

Bessemer, as of today, has won two, lost one and tied one. Sharpsville, which gave Farrell a stiff battle last Friday, handed the Bessemerites their lone setback. Union has not captured a decision, losing to Ellwood City, Ursuline and Evans City.

In the past three games Bessemer has shown remarkable improvement in all departments, especially in the backfield. Last week, the backs were in top form as they trampled over Lowellville, 31-7.

Union, on the other hand, has been hampered by lack of experience and a thin number of athletes. Consequently, the blue and white has accepted three defeats. On the short end, the Unionites, nevertheless, hope to hit the right form that will net them their initial triumph.

Korab-Boda Standouts

Korab and Boda have been standouts in the ball carrying division so far. Bigley and Foreman have played well on the line.

Bessemer's line is rock-ribbed and the backs, Cracraft, Miller, Lorella and Gatto, especially Miller and Gatto, has class.

A large gallery is expected to witness the important setto.

Lineup:

| Bessemer. | | Union. |
|---|---|---|
| Anderson | L.E. | J. Hilton |
| R. Mittica | L.T. | Babb |
| Pezzuolo | L.G. | Foreman |
| Kresevich | C. | E. Hanna |
| Conner | R.G. | Bigley |
| Novad | R.T. | Rotunno |
| Johnson | R.E. | Cole |
| Cracraft | Q.B. | Boda |
| Miller | L.H. | Micco |
| Lorella | R.H. | Deli |
| Gatto | F.B. | Korab |

SENIOR GOLFERS HONOR DAVE ASTON

Member Of Older Group Who Recently Made Hole-In-One Is Guest At Dinner

Senior golfers gathered at Sylvan Heights course Wednesday afternoon as a tribute to one of their number, Dave Aston, who recently added to his laurels as one of the city's better niblick swingers by annexing a hole-in-one at Castle Hills course. After a round of golf the players assembled in the clubhouse, where a fine chicken dinner was enjoyed

An agreement was made last year that any hole-in-one which a member of the Senior Golfers group would make would be so honored, and Dave was the first to achieve the distinction.

Tucker Hockman was medalist of the afternoon's play with a snappy 41.

At the fine chicken dinner prepared by Mrs. Samuel Haycock, wife of Sylvan Heights course's genial manager, W. I. Clarke, the president of the Senior Golfers association introduced William N. Nunn, who presided as master of ceremonies. Presentation of a handsome trophy was made to Dave, by William A. Francis. Others who spoke, were: Mont Magill, secretary; William T. Saul, E. E. McGill, Morgan J. Jones, H. C. Hornberger, Dr. William P. Felch, Tucker Hockman, Charles F. Allen, and Sam Haycock.

Mr. Aston responded graciously.

Series Shells

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The two outstanding hitters in the first two games of the world series are a couple of gents who might stay on top right down to the finish, although they are bound to be crowded by some of the other players.

The top man is 25-year-old Bill Johnson, one of the New Jersey Johnsons, who has made three singles and a double in eight trips for an average of .500 and leadership of both clubs. Close runner-up is Ray Sanders, the long-stretching Cardinal first-sacker. He has been up seven times and has made three hits for a .429 average. One of his safe pokes was a home run in yesterday's game.

Hitless Wonders

Outfielder Danny Litwhiler of the Cards and First Baseman Nick Etten of the Yankees (both strangely enough refugees from the Philadelphia baseball club) are the only players who have gone through both games without getting even a single.

Not far behind them are Whitey Kurowski and Harry Walker of the Cards, and Tuck Stainback and Bill Dickey of the Yankees, all with only one safe hit.

Marion, Sanders and Charley Keller lead in runs batted in with two apiece.

When the Cards lost the opening game Tuesday, the Yankees reacted with a hearty jubilance not often seen in this most staid of all clubs. The dressing room was a happy scene, while over in the Cards' quarters the boys were not morose but, in retrospect, seemed to be whistling in the dark.

Yesterday, there was a sweeping reversal of the emotions heretofore displayed by the players.

In the Yankee dressing room there were no shouts of glee, no confused, happy milling about, and there were few smiles. It is reasonable that the Yankees would not be particularly happy over suffering a defeat, but their silence was unnatural. They sat around their bench like a pack of zombies. Joe McCarthy announced that Hank Borowy would pitch today's game, and that was all the real news in the New York dressing room.

Bridenbaugh Shifts New Castle Lineup For Farrell Tussle

After sending the squad through a drawn out workout, Head Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh declared yesterday that New Castle high is ready for the fifth encounter of the season which pits the unbeaten 'Canes against Farrell high, Friday night at Taggart stadium.

The proceedings were crowded with seriousness as the athletes paraded through the final stiff drill of the week. Tonight, the locals will stage their usual Thursday night signal drill and then hie to the dressing room for a blackboard lesson.

Defense Keynote

Defense keynoted Wednesday's workout with the seconds reproducing Farrell's plays as outlined by Paul Cuba, who watched the undefeated Steelers whip Sharpsville last Friday.

The modified double wing, with the wingbacks pulled in closer, baffled the 'Canes several times, on two occasions the seconds ripped off long gains, one of which was a touchdown.

Before the "that's all boys" order, Coach Bridenbaugh called for a short offensive drill with the varsity showing up exceptionally well.

Juggling Lineup

Hoping to add additional sock to an otherwise punchless backfield, Coach Bridenbaugh is juggling the lineup.

One of the changes shifts Quarterback Dick McKee to the right halfback post. The clever blond will call signals from that slot. Harry Liebendorfer, one of the quietest and most popular athletes on the squad, has been elevated to McKee's berth.

Liebendorfer, whose play has caught the fancy of the coaching staff, has several important duties blocking back, he'll move into the left guard station on defense, thus allowing Joe Joseph to back up the line with Preston.

Another change finds tall "Bill" McPeak graduating to the right end post held by Bob Lengyel after Al Germani suffered a broken leg. McPeak's height was mainly responsible for the shuffle.

Probable Starters

New Castle's lineup, in all probabilities, will be:

Newman and McPeak, ends; Roussos and Sanfilippo, tackles; Joseph and Izzo, guards; Robert Preston, center; Williams and McKee, halfbacks; Liebendorfer, quarterback, and Lewis, fullback.

The game starts at 8 o'clock.

UNITED GIRLS' SOFTBALL TITLE BATTLE TONIGHT

Office Force Faces Shop Stars On Gaston Park Field; Rivals Ready

That much talked about United Engineering and Foundry company girls' softball championship game finally will be played tonight at 6 o'clock on Gaston Park field.

The setto pairs the Office All-Stars and the Shop All-Stars.

Kenny Parshall, manager, and Brabara Gilbert, coach, of the Shop Stars have their team in top condition. Babe Toscano, Stella Noga, former New Castle high band leader, and Barbara Gilbert, are star hitters for the Shop outfit.

Office force is piloted by Marian Gaither and coached by popular Don Edgar. "Handsome" Rudisill, "Lefty" Sacco, Mary Loveridge and Marian Gaither form the hitting power. Dorothy Stizinger will hurl for the Office gang.

Both teams have been practicing for the past two weeks and are all set.

A large crowd is expected to witness the game.

This contest brings back memories of the Factor Variety girls, managed by Joe Factor, who played some of the greatest clubs in the nation.

Sports Ramblings

Sports bulletin board:----

Sports news, the ancient variety here in the states, is hot stuff to the boys across. Cpl. Edward J. Yerage, the south sider, exemplifies the point. In a letter to this bureau, the athlete says "I'm biting my nails to know who won the City Baseball league championship. While it's stale news to you folks, it's the kind of stuff we want regardless of its age." Yerage's request is well on its way . . . .

Since accepting the coaching headaches at Farrell high, Coach "Hank" Day, generally regarded as one of the top hands in the business around these parts, has yet to score a victory over Coach Bridenbaugh The Steelers-N. C. squared off in 1934 with the locals winning, 27-0. In '41, the 'Canes copped 25-7 and last season the locals cakewalked, 33-12. The lopsidedness of the results surprises . . .

Phil H. Bridenbaugh watched Clairton high rumble over McKeesport, 33-0, and shudders to think what'll happen when his 'Canes run against the smooth Pittsburgh district powerhouse which has won 17 in a row . . . "Bill" Jarrett, of 650 South Ray street, Jane Wilson, 530 West Washington street, and Henry Vitkovich, ex-Ellwood City high ace, are three candidates seeking positions on Westminster's cage combination . . . .

Quickies:—Miss Pauline Rugh, coach of Bell Township high's grid team, is finding the victory road studded with thorns. So far, the Bellers haven't won a decision . . . By starting Spud Chandler, Joe McCarthy proved an old theory—ace is high . . . Would it be appropriate to say that Clark Shaughnessy's Pitt Panthers have been T-molished? . . . .

The Giants finished last for the first time since 1915 . . . Win Ballou, a consistent winning pitcher for San Francisco, is 48 . . . Ted Williams and John Pesky, Red Sox aces, now are stationed at the Bunker Hill, Ind. air station . . . "Bill" Dickey's .360 average season won't win the A. L. batting crown because the Yankee catcher did not play in enough clashes . . . .

Pittsburgh Bucs Sign 17-Year-Old Pitcher

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Stressing heavily its accent on youth wartime policy, the Pittsburgh Pirates today signed a 17-year-old Ohio American Legion outfielder for spring delivery.

The new acquisition was Harry Amato, of Springfield, O., a left-handed hitter and thrower who was this year's standout performer in the American Legion junior championships.

Buc scouts think young Amato will win a starting berth in next year's lineup—if he isn't grabbed by the army first.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Pete Carey, former local amateur boxer and a son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Carey of North Mercer street, is the lightweight boxing champion of the 12th Regiment, Third U. S. Marines, care Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, according to information which reached his parents today.

The local marine fought another marine by the name of Clarik in the semi-final of a tournament. Pete reported that his opponent was the better puncher, but that he was the more scientific and there was quite a lot of booing when the decision was rendered.

Although he dropped the decision the fight actually paved the way for him to win the lightweight title of the regiment because one of his punches broke Clarik's nose, and when he was scheduled to box a marine named Saylor and the latter couldn't fight.

Pete was called upon and he came through to win the fight and title. His brother Tom is in service, and according to Pete, Joe Gender, local football player, is in service in the same vicinity as Pete. Incidentally he reports getting The News and like all the other boys from this district, enjoys the hometown news.

Shenango Valley Beagle club will be host to those who enter dogs, and dog lovers who witness the fall trials Wednesday, it was announced today. The fall meeting has been sanctioned by the American Kennel club. The trials will be run on the local group's training area two miles north of the city line on the New Castle-Highland Heights road.

According to reports, there will be a class of hounds entered and the beagle contestants will be divided into two classes, one for All-Age dogs, measuring 13 inches, and one class for All-Age dogs, measuring 15 inches more or less. Prizes and ribbons will be awarded the first four placed hounds in each class showing the best hound style in action.

Competition is expected to be keen because dry weather will make it difficult for the hounds to follow "Br'er Rabbit." Members of the club are pining for rain. The judges will be William J. Dawson, Beaver Valley club, and Walter Alexander of Sharpsville. Drawing of braces will start promptly at 8 a. m. for both classes and the hounds will go to work in the field shortly afterward. Only hounds registered with the AKC are eligible as entries.

AGREES WITH HIM

Champaign, Ill., Jack Curry, freshman center on Coach Ray Eliot's 1943 Illini team, has gained 45 pounds in the past three years, and seemingly, with every pound has become a better football player.

YALE ELEVEN ABANDONS 'T'

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 7.—(INS)—Yale abandoned its T-formation today and returned to the single-wing Warner power plays of last year.

Coach Howie Odell said the change was necessitated by leg and knee injuries to important members of the Eli eleven. Several trick plays will be retained from the T-formation, Odell said.

Baseball, boxing and basketball are the most popular sports with American soldiers.

Leahy Stays Awake Nights; Daley's Blame

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 7.—(INS)—Coach Frank Leahy confessed today that he and his Notre Dame Irish "stay awake nights trying to figure out a defense to stop Bill Daley" when the South Bend eleven invades Ann Arbor to engage Michigan in what may be the championship game of the Mid-West this season.

Leahy said he was definitely pessimistic over next Saturday's game with the Wolverines. He points out that the Irish were keyed up against Georgia Tech last week and were due for a let-down in morale.

Bucks Kick-Pass

COLUMBUS, O.—Passing and kicking today marked the preparations of Ohio State for next Saturday's battle with the Bluejackets at Great Lakes. The Buckeye backfield of Halfbacks Ernie Parks and Dean Sensenbaugher, Fullback Bill Oliver and Quarterback Al Williams has shown considerable improvement.

Rookies Spearhead Lions' Football Rise

Fenenbock Leads Pro Loop In Ground Gaining; Sinkwich Tops Punters

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(INS)—The important roles played by three rookies in the return of the Detroit Lions to pro football prominence were reflected today in the first official figures released by the National League this season.

The Detroit Tyros have gone to the front in several departments of play.

Fenenbock Leads

The tabulation disclosed that little Charles Fenenbock, a former U. C. L. A. star, has sparkplugged Detroit's comeback from the doldrums of last year's hopeless and hapless campaign.

Fenenbock has taken over first place in ground gaining and leads in kickoff returns.

Fabulous Frankie Sinkwich, formerly of the Georgia Bulldogs, more lately of the U. S. Marines and a late arrival with the Lions, is tied with Fenenbock in the matter of ground-gaining. Each has carried the ball 117 yards to lead the league in this department. But Sinkwich surrendered a full claim on first place by averaging 4.3 yards for each try, while Fenenbock has completed a 5.3-yard average.

Sinkwich thus far has set the pace for the league punters with an average of 46.3 yards on three kicks.

Van Tone Surprise

Another surprising young man corraled by Gus Dorais, the new Detroit mentor, is Arthur Van Tone, former Southern College halfback. He is first among the league's punt handlers, with an average of 15.6 yards picked up on three punt returns.

Still another newcomer, Ronald Cahill of the Chicago Cardinals headed the passers with an average of .528 on 19 completions in 36 attempts. However, Sid Luckman Chicago Bear, has been more productive in the aerial game, contributing 339 yards and five touchdowns in two league starts.

URGE HUNTERS TO SAVE FATS

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7—The State Game Commission appealed to trappers and fur-dealers today to double this season the 94 tons of fur-bearing animal fats salvaged last year for the war effort.

Hunters were urged to save deerskins for sale within 90 days after the season's close for government manufacture into gloves for the armed forces. Such sales were authorized by the 1943 legislature.

The commission revealed efforts are being made to obtain gasoline for dealers to get out and increase collections of deerskins, furs and fats of fur-bearing animals.

'CANE STARTING LINEUP CHANGED

high is working overtime for Friday night's meeting with New Castle high at Taggart stadium.

Coach "Hank" Day, whose line is truly one of the best ever turned out by the scholarly mentor, plans a few surprises for the 'Canes, a team he hasn't defeated since accepting the Farrell post.

Farrell employes a modified double wing and uses a man in motion. Lateral, reverses and tricky passes make-up part of the Steelers' offense which has tripped Greenville, Ellwood City, Meadville and Sharpsville.

Private birds are used to carry messages from one Pacific island to another.

Grid Tidbits

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Penn's passers will match their skill with Dartmouth's aerial tossers Saturday at Franklin Field when the two undefeated elevens meet for the first time since 1932. The Quakers trimmed the Indians then, 14-7.

PRINCETON, N. J.—Princeton like other colleges who thought themselves blessed with Navy V-12 trainees, discovered today that the blessings are not unmixed.

Johnny Van Ness, who made a splendid showing in the Columbia game, now has graduated. Now Coach Mahnken stands to lose O'Brien, Van Ness' replacement, plus Miller and Jones, as the result of examinations.

Promotes Players

MADISON, Wis.—Fullback Harry Hildreth and Quarterback Doug Hodges, two Navy trainees, were moved from the Wisconsin B squad to the first team today and are likely to see considerable action in the Illinois game next Saturday.

IOWA CITY, Ia.—Coach Slip Madigan today praised the work of Tommy Hughes, quarterback; Dick Martin, guard, and Paul Zaehringer, halfback, as the Iowa Hawkeyes drilled for the Iowa Pre-Flight Seahawks next Saturday.

NEW YORK — Otto Apel, star tailback for the Columbia Lions, was back in the lineup today after being taken from last Saturday's game with a bruiesd leg. Apel is expected to play against Yale Saturday, but first string Tackle Greg Schaefer is expected to be absent on Navy assignment.

EARN TOP BILLING

Four former George Washington University gridders — now Marine Corps trainees at Penn State—rate top billing at the Nittany Lion institution. They are Dan Ross, Tad Hapanowicz, and Ed Czekaj on the line, and Jim Graham in the backfield.

TREASURY PLAN AFFECTS MARKET

Market Is Depressed By Selling; Support Comes After Some Declines

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Continued selling on the treasury's tax proposal today depressed the stock market fractions to around 2 points before the list met support and recovered slightly.

Trading, running at a million-share pace in the first hour, quieted down soon after.

Today's decline, fourth consecutively, was due almost solely to uncertainties over the fate of the treasury's plan to increase taxes on both individuals and corporations.

Selected rails, motors and rail equipments made the poorest showing. Chrysler declined more than 2 points before recovering while Pullman and Atchison were off a point or more.

Steels were off fractionally as were amusements, rubbers and utilities. Air transports, weak yesterday, held close to last night's close while specialties were neglected.

International Telephone, active and lower, was the feature of the communications group, while Proctor & Gamble, off a point, was a weak specialty.

Chesapeake & Ohio gained a fraction on the announcement after the close yesterday of a distribution of 1-10 share of preferred stock to common stockholders.

Duranty Speaks At C. Of C. Dinner

J. A. Evans Honored As Outstanding Citizen Of Year In Ellwood

THREE HUNDRED ATTEND DINNER

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 7.—"Don't always think the worst about Russia," and "remember they are suspicious of us just as we are of them", J. Walter Duranty, famous correspondent, told more than 300 Ellwood residents and guests at the Chamber of Commerce tenth annual industrial dinner last night at the Ellwood Elks club.

Presentation of the Will C. Kegel award to J. A. Evans, selected as Ellwood City's outstanding citizen of the year, and a salute to Ellwood industries also highlighted the highly successful affair.

Correspondents are greatly to blame for America's opinion of Russia because they failed to tell the good things. He contrasted it with the case of thousands of people happily married, who never get mentioned in the papers. But let one of them murder the other, and it is published from coast to coast, or marriage as an institution isn't wrong because of the Tommy Manvilles.

Stalin is seeking the advance of his country, he said, and will, Duranty believes, cooperate after the war since they have started the swing away from world revolution. The Allies can't be beaten if they can keep together, he thinks, and pointed out that Germany will do everything to divide the Allies.

Russia will not turn against Japan until the German danger is eliminated, and until U. S. is ready to put large quantities of planes in Russian bases, he said.

Traces Stalin Regime

Duranty in his timely talk traced the history and progress of the Russians under the Stalin regime. In 1917, Russian standards were very low with the masses being little better than animals.

Americans are prejudiced against Russians for four reasons, namely attack on religion, attack on home and family, attack money and property and the making of peace with our enemies, Duranty outlined.

When they learned that their first plans had not succeeded, they swung away, and today their literacy and progress is catching up to ours, although they know nothing of American democracy.

Stalin is a singularly far-sighted man, he said, in tracing Russia's preparation for war which began back in '35. Stalin made the following preparations: Stirring up patriotism with music and radio, building big war plants in the east; system of defense along the border (not like the Maginot line), special stress on the army; preparation of officers through fighting in Spain; moral and economic preparedness, and apprehension of the Fifth Column.

The pact with Germany was made to gain time and even resulted in Russia's securing materials from Germany, Duranty said, and Stalin's excuse for attacking Finland and Poland was to drive back the border line. Hitler's attack of Russia followed because of their apparent failure in Finland.

Presentation Made

Dr. H. E. Helling, last year's recipient of the outstanding citizen award, made the presentation to J. A. Evans, life-long Ellwood resident and president of the Ellwood Forge company, the city's leading home-owned industry.

He is a member of the Ellwood hospital board, the Ellwood Board of Education, the Library board, and during the past year with his brother, D. A. Evans, presented to the city the site of the new emergency hospital, and a large part of the money for the building. With his brother, he was also largely responsible for the building of the new Slippery Rock Presbyterian church mausoleum.

A. E. Conner, president of the Ellwood Chamber of Commerce, on behalf of the merchants' division, was presented with a handsome wrist watch in honor of his celebration this week of 50 years in business. R. J. Schill made the presentation and R. Charles Stiefel presided as toastmaster.

With Robert Klindienst of the army and Carmen Tomeo of the navy forming a guard of honor to a real Uncle Sam, Ellwood industries and their war efforts were honored. Each company had a representative display its product.

The long tables were attractively decorated in patriotic colors and flowers and the flags of the Allied nations formed the ceiling decorations. Women of the Trinity Lutheran church served the delicious chicken dinner.

Special guests were: George Bolinger and Joe Travers, county commissioners; William L. Cropley, assistant real estate agent and J. A. Miller, real estate department, P. & L. E.; F. A. Markley, division freight agent, B. & O.; L. J. Schweibinz, genertl agent, P. & L. E.; A. E. Stitzenger, New York Central; A. W. Graham, traveling freight agent, B. & O.; M. A. Bickett, agent, B. & O.; C. E. Siegfried, Bell Telephone Co. New Castle; Mr. Baldwin, district manager, Bell Telephone Co.; S. E. Knipe, Henretty Construction Co.; Roger Jewett, executive vice-president, Greater New Castle Association; Paul Dingledy and N. F. Vidal, Penna. Power Co., New Castle; Roger W. Rowland, New Castle; John B. Louden, Keystone-Lawrence Transfer; F. W. Burdette and Mrs. Burdette, Manufacturers Light & Heat Co.; A. H. Smith, A. H. Smith Co., Beaver; James Mayer, resident inspector for the navy.

WHAT A PLACE FOR TRAFFIC COP!

CONSTABLE OF THE LOWLIEST HAMLET in the United States would be ashamed to find himself directing traffic in such a morass that passes for a cross-roads as that pictured above. To Pfc. Earl V. ## Food Situation Described To BPW

Miss Helen Roth Of State Health Department Guest Speaker At Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 7.—The food situation in wartime was described to Business and Professional Women club members at the dinner meeting in the Presbyterian church by Miss Helen Roth of Pittsburgh, nutritionist of the state health department.

Her talk featured the "Food for Victory" program arranged by Miss Helen Crowley and Miss Iva Jackson.

Pictures showing the right and wrong kinds of menus of food high in nutritive value were explained, and on display were the highly concentrated emergency and field rations issued to servicemen.

Singing of the song, "Our Nation's on a Ration," written by William Tinker, Ted Wardman and Larry Turner of this city followed.

Treasurer Mrs. Elder Anderson announced that generous contributions are being made by members to the Deshon hospital party fund.

A special guest was Miss Mary Jane McKnight, a missionary who is awaiting call to Africa.

The delicious dinner was served by Mrs. Harry Solsberg canteen corps.

A social meeting of the club will be held on Tuesday, October 19, at the home of Mrs. Floyd Scheidemantel, Massachusetts Drive.

Corsica Capture Benefits Allies

North African French Army Aid Also To Be Appreciated

IDEAL AIR BASES TO BE PROVIDED

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—The French capture of Corsica and the north African French army are discussed in the following article by Major Paul C. Raborg, noted military analyst and author of "mechanized might.")

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially for International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—Gen. Henri Giraud's announcement that French troops are in possession of all of Corsica, is news of greatest strategic value for the Allies. Corsica is a definite possible springboard for invasion of southeastern France and an ideal air base for both bomber and fighter planes.

With Allied planes based on that island, the British, United States and Allied naval vessels will have complete control of all the Tyrrhenian Sea and the Ligurian Sea, including the Gulf of Genoa. The northernmost point of Corsica is little more than 50 miles from the mainland west coast of the Italian Peninsula.

Fighter planes from Corsica now can roam at will over Nazi rear positions and supply and communication lines in Italy. That, added to fighter attack from Allied planes based in the lower leg of the Italian Peninsula, can cause terrific devastation to all German installations.

Near To France

The westernmost point of the island of Corsica is only 120 miles from Cannes, about 150 from Toulon, and not more than 170 from Marseilles. Amphibious landings could probably be made from Corsica at any of those three latter named cities.

The French troops which overran Corsica are perhaps the first from the newly reorganized and re-equipped French army in northern Africa to attain battle success. It is understood that General Giraud has under his command at least 300,000 veteran French soldiers. United States lend-lease has been arranged for, which is supposed to arm all these French units as of 1943.

The history back of those French fighting units is of greatest interest. Before the surrender of France they were part of the great British-French Middle East army base in the vicinty of Egypt under the command of General Weygand.

After the French armistice that army was divided and the French portion supposedly passed out of the war. The British became the now famous 8th army.

Historic Colonial Troops

General Giraud's French Army contains some of the oldest and most historic French Colonial troops. Among them are probably many units of the famed French Foreign Legion.

Many of those French Colonial regiments fought with Continental French troops in France during the last war and made records for the greatest gallantry in action. The French Senegalese were the most famed shock troops in France. They took no prisoners.

From a historical and sentimental viewpoint it will be a wonderful thing for the democracies if that French army, with its great background and traditions of battle successes, becomes the spearhead of a new invasion thrust at Mediterranean France aimed at the liberation of their own country.

INITIATE "ACTION" VETERANS

GROVE CITY, Oct. 7.—Three local youths, all "action" veterans of World War II, are now regularly initiated members of the Corp. Clair L. VanEman Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars. They were initiated while on short visits to their homes here.

Merle Ray is a patient in Aspinwall Veterans hospital, having been invalided home from Australia; Lt. Osborne Koerner recently reported for duty after a leave, following a year's service with the U. S. Navy in the South Pacific, when he survived the sinking of the cruiser "Helena" in Kula Gulf; and Seaman Richard Huff, brother of Grove City's first war casualty. Seaman Jack Huff, has been on Atlantic convoy duty for almost a year.

Hospitalization Plan Head Here

Francis Farrelly Is Named As Representative For New Castle District

FRANCIS FARRELLY

The hospital-sponsored hospitalization plan in which the Jameson Memorial and the New Castle hospitals are participating announces the appointment of Francis Farrelly as representative for the New Casfle district.

Mr. Farrelly is well known in Lawrence and Mercer counties, having been a partner of Farrelly Chrystal and Co., stock and bond brokers. He was educated at Western Reserve University in Cleveland. He is married and the father of a son and a daughter. His son, Thomas Farrelly, is a corporal of the Army Air Force and is stationed in Denver, Colorado.

As the district representative of the Hospital Service Association, which administers the plan for the local hospitals, Mr. Farrelly will make his headquarters at the Jameson Memorial hospital and the New Castle hospital. Contacts may be made through either hospital.

In addition to the New Castle and the Jameson Memorial hospitals, the Ellwood City hospital in this county is taking part, as are the Christian H. Buhl, the Greenville, Grove City and Mercer Cottage hospitals in Mercer County.

Many of the leading industrial and commercial organizations in the two counties are already represented on the membership rolls of the Hospital Service Association. The boards of trustees of the participating hospitals guarantee hospital treatment to those enrolled when such care is recommended by the family physician.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)
